Roosevelt Says

'Torrents of Arms To Engulf Tyranny'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt reported to Congress today actual exports of United States war supplies to nations fighting the Axis, under the lend-lease program, had totaled $190,447,670 up to August 31.

This figure represented expenditures for weapons and other supplies actually sent abroad. But, the President added, defence articles transferred, including some still waiting to be shipped, amounted to an additional $35,946,701, while various services, such as repairing naval vessels, added up to still another figure of $78,169,377.

Thus in services, transfers of title and actual exports, the United States has provided $324,563,728 in assistance to the foes of the Axis.

Furthermore, expenditures for articles for services not yet finished added up to approximately $162,002,000, Mr. Roosevelt said.

TORRENTS

"Planes, tanks, guns and ships have begun to flow from our factories and yards," he said, "and the flow will accelerate from day to day, until the stream becomes a river, and the river a torrent, engulfing this totalitarian tyranny which seeks to dominate the world."

The report showed upwards of a dozen nations have been getting some measure of lend-lease assistance, but the bulk has gone to Great Britain.

The list includes China, Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia, Norway, Belgium, the Netherlands, including the Netherlands East Indies, Brazil and the Dominican Republic. Chile and Cuba also have asked for help and are in line for requisitions. In other quarters, it was learned that aid also was being given the Free French government through Great Britain. Mr. Roosevelt mentioned that aid is being given to the Polish troops training in Canada.

Declaring that aid is not an act of charity or sympathy but a means of defending America, the President added:

"We offer it because we know that piecemeal resistance to aggression is doomed to failure; because the ruthless war machine which now bestrides the continent of Europe can be combated only by the combined efforts of all free peoples and at all strategic points where the aggressor may strike."

SWORD NEEDED

He said America must offer "not only a shield but a sword," the tools of a final and total victory to "those peoples who are gallantly shedding their blood in the front lines of this struggle."

"The people of the United States know," Mr. Roosevelt said, "that we can not live in a world dominated by Hitlerism. They realize that there can be no real peace, no secure freedom until we have destroyed the evil forces which seek to work us woe."

Of the original $7,000,000,000 lend-lease appropriation, the President told Congress, $6,281,237,421, has been allocated $3,555,587,895 has been put under contract and $388,912,115 has been spent. Congress also authorized the President to turn over another $1,300,000,000 in war supplies already on hand for purposes of the aid program and the President said $97,809,722 of this sum has been transferred.

Including supplies which Britain financed herself, the British Empire has actually obtained approximately $4,400,000,000 goods in the United States since the war began, Mr. Roosevelt said.

But, he asserted, "the rate of our production must be accelerated, and every step to achieve that end must and will be taken."

Although Russia has been paying for war supplies and has received no lend-lease help, Mr. Roosevelt complimented the "gallant resistance of the Russian people," and said it had been of enormous help to all peoples resisting the Nazi war machine. The energies of the American government, he said, are making available to Russia urgently needed supplies.

BASES FOR BRITAIN

The report disclosed some lend-lease funds have been utilized to build military and naval bases for Britain. Administration officials would not say where these bases were, but the amount of aid for this purpose approached $12,000,000.

The report showed the United States has supplied a fleet of trucks to China as well as cargo vessels to carry war supplies, and paying materials for resurveying the Burma Road, China's lifeline.

Lend-lease equipment and materials also are going into a railroad through China's Yunnan province. Modern fighter planes will augment the Chinese air force under lend-lease contracts concluded in the last 90 days.

LONDON (CP) — One vessel was left sinking and another was hit this afternoon when the R.A.F. blasted at German shipping off the Frisian Islands, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

Make War Gases

NEW YORK (AP) — The Wall Street Journal said today: "The mystery behind the shortage in chlorine, hardest-to-get chemical in America, finally can be revealed. 'The primary but hitherto secret reason for the shortage is the huge and unexpected demand from government arsenals for the production of war gases.'"

Axis Claims Freedom

ROME (AP) — Virginio Gayda contended today President Roosevelt's orders to the United States navy, without defining American defensive waters, gave Axis warships "complete freedom of action" to fire at U.S. ships or fight in any sea. He also charged U.S. submarines, were active in the Mediterranean.

Gasoline Charge

EDMONTON (CP) — A charge against George H. Page of selling gasoline to a private automobile after 7 p.m., contrary to federal gasoline conservation regulations, was adjourned to September 18 by Magistrate A. I. ## Calls for Halt Of Strike Epidemic

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP) — Lt. Col. S. E. Lambert, O.B.E., Dominion president of the War Amputations of Canada, said today the present "epidemic of strikes should be halted" and called on Canadians to appeal for leadership for "a great crusade against the enemy."

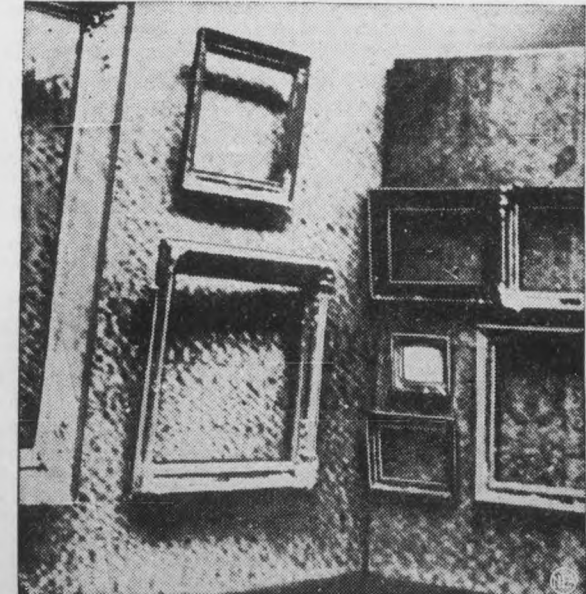

Speaking at a luncheon of the association convention, Col. Lambert said he did not think strikers should be allowed to stand outside the soup company at new Toronto while the tomatoes are rotting on the vines. In the army they would be taken out and shot.

Mr. King, it is about time that a great many people in Canada were asked to take the oath of attestation.

He said the Germans cannot cross from Boulogne to London because "the spirit of these fragments from France is still alive in Britain. What Canada needs is courage and leadership for a great crusade. Every young man over the age of 18 years should be asked to do his part."

Italians and Germans resident in Canada should be asked to serve or be shipped back to their native lands, he said.

Pacific War Certain

MELBOURNE (AAP) — Hostilities will break out sooner or later in the Pacific, Hallet Abend, noted American correspondent visiting Australia, said today. He said he believed war with Japan would quicken the end of the conflict in Europe and that America would eventually become a belligerent.

He saw no reason for hope in the American-Japanese talks as the position of the two nations is so hopelessly opposite that they could hardly find a basis for agreement. Japan would never agree to remove her armies from China as any such move would result in mutiny and rebellion.

Japan is vulnerable to the sea, he said. If hostilities break out on the Pacific, her supply lines could be cut and her soldiers in China would be left without munitions or equipment. In the event of war a Japanese attack on the Philippines and East Indies would be the most strategic move.

"It would be folly to hit at Australia first but Australia would need to be concerned," he said.

(Abend has lived for years in Shanghai where he represents the New York Times. He has frequently passed through Victoria.)

Tanks to Russia

LONDON (CP) — Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Supply, announced today all the tanks manufactured in Britain during the week beginning September 22 will be sent to Russia.

In a message exhorting workers in tank factories to put forth their utmost efforts, Lord Beaverbrook said the seven-day output would be dispatched to the nation "whose soldiers today are fighting in the same shining cause" as Britain.

U.S. Navy to Convoy Lease-Lend Cargoes

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Navy Secretary Knox told the American Legion convention today that, beginning tomorrow, the United States navy will protect all Lease-Lend cargoes traversing the sea "between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

He described the Atlantic fleet's orders in unequivocal language—"to capture or destroy" every Axis surface or subsurface raider encountered. Knox avoided the particular word "convoy."

The Knox announcement constituted the first official disclosure of how the navy was preparing to carry out the new policy enunciated by President Roosevelt last Thursday—that henceforth Axis war vessels entering United States "defensive waters" would do so at their own peril, and that American naval vessels would not wait for them to shoot first.

OF ALL FLAGS

Knox said: "Beginning tomorrow, the American navy will provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

"These ships are ordered to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal, Axis-controlled submarines or surface raiders encountered in these waters."

"That is our answer to Mr. Hitler's declaration that he will try to sink every ship his vessels encounter on the routes leading from United States to British ports."

Whether "protection as adequate as we can make it" means that U.S. warships would begin escorting convoys of British and other cargo vessels tomorrow was a matter of conjecture, but the fact an interim of four days was necessary between President Roosevelt's statement and the beginning of this protection indicated some special arrangements requiring time to complete had been made.

Moreover, the fact the protection will be extended into waters adjacent to Iceland was taken as an indication United States probably had agreed to assume sole responsibility for guarding supply ships up to that point with the Royal Navy to take over from there on.

Knox's announcement came near the end of his address to the Legion gathering, and after he had declared that since United States occupation of Iceland on July 7, "Hitler and the Nazis were palpably losing the battle of the Atlantic" and therefore were forced to attempt to break down the bridge of ships carrying supplies to Britain.

Meeting

"If they did not swiftly take successful measure to break down this bridge the defeat of England, the prime purpose of the war, would become impossible," Knox said. "If they did make such an all-out effort, they would add the United States navy to their numerous foes."

GRIM CHOICE

"It was a grim choice, but Nazi action in the past few days has left little room for doubt of what they will do."

Referring to the Greer incident, Knox said: "That whole issue is far too broad to make the question of who fired the first of great importance," but he said he wanted to refer to it because "it offered a chance for that curious organization known as 'the American first committee' to tell the American public that, in its judgment, it was more likely the German U-boat commander was telling the truth than the American naval officer who commanded the Greer."

"That is an important fact for the American public to digest," Knox declared, "that we have in our midst an organization of American citizens, who on a question of veracity, declared publicly that they prefer to accept the word of a piratical murderer of women and children on the high seas, engaged in a type of warfare denounced by every civilized nation in the world, rather than accept the word of an American commander of an American warship."

ARRESTED IN OSLO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Advances from German-occupied Oslo said today between 250 and 300 labor union leaders in the Oslo district had been arrested as a result of labor troubles which led last week to the Nazi decree of a state of siege.

The actual event which precipitated the decree, advisers said, was a mass strike in the Oslo district in which 40,000 workers took part. Metal workers were said to have begun the strike.

Germans Cross Dnieper

Associated Press

The Red army reported today Germany's heavy losses in the fighting line were forcing her to strip garrisons from many occupied points at the rear and use them for front reinforcements, thus giving greater rein in the Russian guerrillas slashing at the Nazi rearguard.

Already, the communists said, the hit-and-run fighters have "completely destroyed Fascist garrisons in 52 populated points."

"Several punitive detachments, sent by the German command to suppress the guerrilla movement were severely battered and returned without effecting their purpose," it said.

Whole garrisons have been withdrawn to many places, the communists went on. "German commandants of these villages were replaced by village elders recruited from among former kulaks (rich peasant land holders), whiteguards and criminals," it added.

When the garrisons leave, the communists said, the guerrillas sweep in to "eradicate the Fascist appointees."

The first German crossing of the Dnieper River south of besieged Kiev was announced by Russia in an official report the rail junction of Kremenchuk, 175 miles below the Ukraine capital, had fallen to the Nazis "after many days of fierce fighting."

German forces claimed to have made large penetrations through the outer defences guarding Leningrad and to be assaulting the toughest fortified line—a ring of the most modern bunkers held by the Russians with extraordinary tenacity.

The Germans claimed the battle, into which they have flung their strongest tanks, artillery and infantry and in which the air force and navy is co-operating closely, was progressing successfully.

Bunkers in great numbers which surround Leningrad in a deep defensive zone were pronounced the equal to anything the German army had encountered before.

Some were said to have had concrete walls six feet thick but the Germans said they smashed high velocity shells on these thick walls incessantly and that finally they yielded.

The high command claimed earlier the encirclement of Lenin-grad's defences had been tightened in fierce fighting.

An authoritative source in London said that as a result of the Russian evacuation of Kremenchuk and the German thrust in the Perekop area to the south there apparently were no longer any natural obstacles between the German army and the River Don.

Reports from neutral sources, however, indicated the Germans probably would find it precarious going across the muddy terrain.

Russian troops in the Kiev sector were said by this source to be in a "very dangerous position," as the Germans execute a pincer movement upon them from Gomel Kremenchuk.

The German thrust in the Perekop area was said to imperil the only rail communication between Crimea and the mainland.

An early morning Red communiqué said Russian soldiers commanded by Col. Shtykov killed more than 10,000 German soldiers and officers and destroyed nearly 200 tanks, hundreds of trucks, more than 100 guns and 500 motorcycles.

Behind the German lines, in the Leningrad sector, guerrillas were said to be constantly harassing the Germans. One band of 27 was reported to have recaptured two villages and held them for a day.

One woman guerrilla, "Olga," a former parachute-jumper instructor was officially reported to have killed 14 German officers and men with an automatic which she captured from the Germans.

Nazis Plan Sea Drive

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—A sea-borne Nazi drive against Russian forces on the Crimean Peninsula was forecast by observers here today as Balkan sources reported the Germans had ordered all Rumanian and Bulgarian Black Sea ports closed to commercial shipping.

The reported German action capped recurring rumors that both the Germans and Italians had been concentrating men and ships in Bulgarian ports, presumably for an attempt to land forces behind the Soviet Dnieper River defense line in the Ukraine.

It was believed here that the reported German preparations were prompted by dissatisfaction with progress of the campaign on the Ukraine, in which the Rumanian army has been playing an important part.

The Istanbul newspaper Iddam, meanwhile, labeled Bulgaria a belligerent nation, citing the action of the refugee Greek government in declaring war against Bulgaria.

As a belligerent, Iddam said, Bulgaria would not be permitted to send warships into the Black Sea through the Dardanelles—over which Turkey is the guardian.

The paper apparently was alluding to reports Bulgaria recently had purchased warships from Italy with the intention of sailing them through the Dardanelles.

Turkish observers said the Iddam article reflected the official Turkish viewpoint.

HEROES

So that the finest strains of the British race are not killed as they were in the last war, John Sell of Tasmania advocates that all those pilots who have had more than a certain amount of experience in combat with the enemy, and who have proved themselves more than worthy of their heritage, should not be permitted to engage the foe indefinitely.

"It would seem that the veterans of battle would be serving their country much better if they stayed on the ground and helped the new recruits, rather than continuing to court death," he says.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 women are now in training as assistant projectionists for English moving picture houses. Soon about 10,000 are likely to be paid for showing the film they have formerly paid to see.

Those who can pass this test of feminine endurance will be paid the same wages as the men they replace.

Torpedoed Sailors Rescued in Pacific

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The tanker Standvac Manila, due at Santos, Brazil, radioed today "Have 37 Netherlands seamen from torpedoed ship aboard."

The rescue ship, which is of Panama registry, did not report where the survivors were picked up, the name of the torpedoed ship, or its own present location.

Senate Debated

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid reports a German raider is operating in the Pacific approaches to the Panama Canal, the Senate naval committee will be asked to decide whether there should be an investigation of the north Atlantic shooting clash between the United States destroyer Greer and a Nazi submarine.

Chairman David Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, who summoned the committee to meet Wednesday, said he would ask it to question Navy Secretary Frank Knox and Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, concerning the Greer incident—one of the recent series which led to President Roosevelt's "shoot-on-sight" speech Thursday night.

"I think the naval committee should look into the matter," Walsh told reporters. "It is the type of incident which might be used to involve this country in war. Congress and the country are entitled to know the facts and I shall ask the committee to conduct an open hearing."

Meanwhile, the navy was believed to be checking reports that a Nazi raider is in the vicinity of the Galapagos Islands off the coast of Ecuador—some 1,000 miles west of the Pacific entrance to the canal—and preying on merchant shipping.

The location indicated, involving possessions of a hemisphere nation, apparently would fall within the "defensive waters" area which Mr. Roosevelt mentioned in his speech when he warned Axis war craft they entered those stretches of the sea at their own peril.

The Pacific was a fertile hunting ground for German raiders in the first Great War, and to a somewhat lesser extent in the present conflict. From time to time, there have been charges from allied quarters that Nazi raiders in the Pacific were being supplied by Japanese sources. If reports of a raider near the Galapagos are true, the opinion of informed circles here was she would prove to be a surface raider.

Walsh asked the naval committee to consider two resolutions—one by Senator Gerald Nye, Republican, North Dakota, and another by Senator Bennett Champ Clark, Democrat, Missouri, both opponents of administration foreign policy. Nye's resolution proposed that the committee examine the log of the Greer and question its officers. Clark proposed only that a copy of the Greer's log be submitted to the committee.

With the opening of schools, enrollment forms have again been sent to principals and teachers in the province. Last year more than 1,000 branches were enrolled before October. The provincial office is prepared for a greater rush this year.

R.A.F. Now in Action On Leningrad Front

LONDON (CP)—With a wing of the R.A.F. already in action against Germany on the eastern front, the entire United States mission to Moscow has arrived in Britain for stop-over talks before continuing on to the Russian capital for consultation with British and Russian authorities on how to beat Hitler.

The R.A.F. units now in Russia were only the advance guard of greater forces to go, informed quarters indicated, and the British press carried reports American-made planes already were in service of the Red air force.

Junior members of the American mission reached London yesterday with the Russian ambassador to United States, Constantin Oumansky, after a trans-Atlantic plane flight. The American embassy announced earlier W. Averell Harriman, head of the mission, and the remainder of the delegation had arrived "somewhere in the United Kingdom."

SPEED-UP

The delegation has been commissioned, with its British counterpart, to study with the Russians all means of speeding supplies and weapons of war to the Russian front.

Arrival of the first British fliers in Russia was disclosed in a brief announcement a wing of the R.A.F.—a self-contained unit with full flying and ground personnel—had reached the Soviet Union.

Before the war a wing normally contained three squadrons, but the present strength of such a unit—as well as the number of planes in a squadron—is a military secret.

It was presumed, however, the newly-arrived unit consisted of fighter aircraft, probably speedy Hurricanes and Spitfires such as have formed the first line of defence in Britain.

British newspapers carried reports the British fliers already had reached the front and had gone into action against the Germans—presumably in defence of Leningrad.

It is believed the R.A.F. contingent had been dispatched by the shortest and fastest route—through the Arctic to Murmansk. British sources forecast that additional armmen would be sent by the longer but safer 15,000-mile route around the Cape of Good Hope, up through the Persian Gulf and into Russia by the newly-opened backdoor route across Iran.

The Daily Telegraph, foreseeing a steadily-increasing flow of aid to Russia, declared it was reasonable to assume the newly-arrived R.A.F. unit was only "the advance guard of a large fighter contingent destined for the eastern front."

Informed sources, recalling Prime Minister Churchill's statement last week that hundreds of fighter planes are being sent to Russia, said Britain had a large supply of aircraft on which to draw.

Aircraft production took a spurt upward a year ago, these sources said, and during the long winter reserves were piled up, augmented by planes from United States.

Unconfirmed reports said American-made Tomahawk fighter planes were among those shipped to Russia.

Disturbances In Croatia

ZAGREB, Croatia (via Berlin) (AP)—Four time bombs exploded in Zagreb's central telephone exchange yesterday, injuring a German major and at least 13 other persons, while in another part of the city six Croat soldiers were wounded by machine gun fire.

The first bomb in the telephone office, located in the main post office building, exploded at 12.30 p.m. Three other blasts occurred 20 minutes later.

The explosions crippled Zagreb's telephone system and made calls within the city or to outside points impossible. There was no indication when communications again would be restored.

Major Moehring, German signal corps officer, was wounded in the head. He is assigned to the staff of Maj.-Gen. Edmund Glaise Horstenau, German liaison officer at Zagreb.

A Croat named Reikovic, who is local head of the Croat secret police, Ustachi was wounded in the leg. The limb later was amputated.

A German lieutenant, four German soldiers, a German telephone operator and six Croats also were injured.

There was no official announcement, but informed sources said they believed "Communist" saboteurs were responsible.

As a result of the blast government offices temporarily were cut off from the rest of the country.

The Six Croat sentries wounded were found lying in the street as the result of machine gun fire from a rooftop at a street corner in another part of Zagreb. A systematic search of houses in the neighborhood was instituted and soldiers and gendarmes controlled the streets at the outskirts of the city.

Finland May Ask War's End

HELSINKI (AP)—Possibility Finland may be near the end of her war with Russia was heightened today by the declaration of a government spokesman that there are "good hopes of peace in the nearest future."

Vaino Tanner, Minister of Trade and Communications and leader of the Cominant Social Democratic Party, in an address yesterday said Finland is an ally of Germany "only by accident" and that Finland would continue to fight only as long as her interests demanded.

Finland, he added, never wanted war but that since "barbarous and expansionist Russia" is a neighbor "our long frontier is still insecure and it is probably essential that we should render areas beyond it safe in a military sense."

"Before that, there is no possibility of concluding peace with anybody."

(Tanner failed to give the basis for his hopes of early peace, but there have been previous unofficial predictions that Finland would stop fighting as soon as she regained territories lost to Russia in the 1939-40 winter war, plus enough territory in certain areas to give her a good strategic front.)

2 Strikes Finish

TORONTO (CP)—The biggest staff in the history of the Campbell Soup Company's suburban New Toronto plant was hard at work today making up for lost time after last week's strike. Settlement of the strike was announced last night.

"We must have 900 people in the building today compared with the 500 which usually work in a busy season," said D. M. Mounce, plant manager. "We have taken all the strikers back and are keeping on those who wish to continue after coming from western Ontario. Things have piled up at such a rate that there'll be plenty for everyone to do for some time to come."

Settlement terms were announced at a strike meeting attended by about 300 men and women. The agreement provided for a 3-cent-an-hour increase to women, boys and men employed in the plant, seniority rights in and permission to form a grievance committee.

WAGE INCREASES

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Forty employees of the Star Shipyards (Mercer) Ltd. went to work today under terms of a new agreement reached with the company Saturday granting them a new wage scale and a cost-of-living bonus.

While wage increases will not be effective until November 1, the bonus was made retroactive to August 16.

Under the new agreement, carpenters, caulkers, shipwrights and joiners will receive 90 cents an hour, painters will receive 80 cents an hour; carpenters' helpers 72 and laborers 55 cents. In addition all receive a cost-of-living bonus.

Germans in Crete Doped, Nurse Says

SMYRNA (ONA)—A Greek army nurse who escaped from Crete said upon her arrival here that the Nazi troops who took the island "seemed like an army of robots who had been given dope."

She had worked in a hospital in Candia, Crete, and related that most of her patients wanted only aspirin, consuming it in large quantities, as well as other narcotics. She said that she tested some chocolate given to the German troops and found that it contained a drug.

"The troops seemed like human machines, well disciplined but undernourished and devoid of normal feelings," she said.

Victoria Brothers Envy of Canadian Troops

These boys are the envy of the Canadian soldiers in England. Through force of circumstances, most of the others haven't yet been in contact with the Nazis, but the members of this anti-aircraft crew in training in England have shot down a German plane, and are they happy! These two are brothers, E. A. Underwood (left) and L. H. Underwood, who were landscape gardener and sawmill worker, respectively, in Victoria, before they joined the army. They are sons of Major and Mrs. E. B. Underwood, 400 Gorge Road West.

In Tokyo

Jap Magazine Sees German Defeat

TOKYO—A sensational article predicting the defeat of Germany is published by Japan News Week, which often reflects the views of high government quarters.

Several hours after the publication appeared on the news stands, police of this Axis-member country had made no attempt to suppress it.

The publication said the situation ushering in the third year of the European war was such that "although it does not indicate the Nazis and their ill-founded plans have been defeated, it does mean that by the end of the third year, the finish of the horrible carnage should be within the grasp of the Allies."

FAILLURE

However well Adolf Hitler may have thought he planned a march to world domination, "it is now quite apparent that even he is fallible," News Week said.

It said the second year of the war proved Hitler erred in believing the German air force could blast Britain into submission.

The end of the second year finds an expanded Royal Air Force attacking at will vital spots in Germany and occupied France," it said.

"The subsequent failure to drive British shipping from the Atlantic must have been more bitter yet. . . . Perhaps no less disheartening to the chancellor (Hitler) is the slow progress being made in an attempt to subjugate the mighty Red army of the Soviet Union. . . .

REJECTION

"While the chancellor may well view with alarm the military situation he now faces, it is perhaps less immediately disturbing to him that the growing evidences of complete rejection by the conquered countries of the Nazi scheme for a new world order."

The previous issue of News Week, on August 30, had urged that American and Japanese statesmen get together in a spirit of "compromise and conciliation" and try to bridge the "bottomless chasm" between the two countries.

It had urged Japan make the first overture and that she abandon the idea the United States has no legitimate concern in Far Eastern affairs, because such an attitude "is incompatible with Japan's avowed claim she recognizes the legitimate rights of all nations in her co-prosperity sphere."

Field's Novel Nazi Code Key

By WILLIAM PINKERTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Have United States agents cracked the secret codes of Nazi espionage?

Hints that American spy-hunters have held the keys to the mumbo-jumbo of Nazi military intelligence are being heard in the current talk of a group of men accused of transmitting defence secrets to Germany.

A federal attorney disclosed that an American counter-espionage agent actually had attended the special school for spies in a building next to the police presidium at Hamburg, Germany.

There he was taught how to make and decode German secret messages, how to handle a camera, how to operate a radio and how to make the tiny microphotographs which convert bulky documents into a package small enough to be carried in the back of a watch case.

German agents gave the spy a copy of Rachel Field's "All This and Heaven Too"—an English best-seller novel—and this was the key to the coding and decoding of messages by which he was to keep in touch with the Hamburg headquarters.

SYSTEM ABANDONED

The fact that United States officials were willing to put on court record their knowledge of German espionage methods may indicate that this code already has been abandoned and that another is in use. It may be that American agents already have solved the new code.

The idea of using a popular novel as key to a secret code is a fresh but not particularly inspired approach to the problems of cryptography.

The Germans apparently used a combination of two methods, using a novel as the code-key but also using a prearranged formula for plucking the message from the novel's pages.

The whole story of this war's espionage and code systems will not be written until long after the war is over. No doubt the radio has brought refinements. There have been suggestions that musical numbers and other sound effects might be used to transmit prearranged codes.

Tried Smuggling Fined $250

VANCOUVER (CP)—Alexander Simmons of Vancouver was fined a total of $250 by Magistrate H. S. Wood in police court when he pleaded guilty to charges of attempting to export currency without a permit from the Foreign Exchange Control Board, attempting to deceive a customs officer and failing to declare foreign currency in his possession.

Simmons attempted to cross the border into the United States with $230 in United States currency in his possession in excess of the amount allowed under control board regulations.

He was fined $200 on the first charge, $25 each on the other two counts.

How you can borrow on your own responsibility and repay in convenient monthly instalments—
$7.78 a month repays $100 loan in fifteen months
—Quick, private service

CAN you make good use of $100? Would a cash loan help you? If you have steady employment, you are invited to apply for a Household Finance loan up to $500. You need no endorsers or guarantors. Your employer will not be notified.

You are the only one required to sign the loan papers (husband and wife sign together). It is not necessary to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign with you. Nor do we question others about your money affairs. Loans are usually made on furniture or car. But we consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in 24 hours, even sooner if necessary.

Choose your own plan

You may choose your own repayment schedule. Notice that $7.78 a month repays a $100 loan in fifteen months.

Or, if you wish to repay more quickly, ten instalments of $11.13, or twelve payments of $9.46 will retire a loan of $100. Fifteen monthly instalments of $11.67 each will repay a $150 loan in full, and as little as $23.35 a month will pay up a $300 loan in 15 months. Consult the table below for the loan you need and the payment you wish to make each month, then come in or telephone us.

RARE OLD STONES DAMAGED BY FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Museum workers grubbed through ashes in Golden Gate Park today for blocks of stone as irreplaceable as they were thought indestructible.

What they sought were parts of the ancient Spanish monastery of Santa Maria de Oliva, which they had hoped to reassemble just as it once stood on the River Tagus not far from Madrid.

"Yesterday the blocks of stone stood in packing cases, piled 10 high in a remote section of the park. They had been moved there from a downtown warehouse where, along with other similar blocks, they had been stored since 1930—the year William Randolph Hearst imported the monastery piece by piece from Spain, a cargo that filled 11 ships.

Vernon Woodward Promoted, Instructor

By GODFREY ANDERSON
WITH THE R.A.F. ON THE WESTERN DESERT (CP)—Ft. Lt. Vernon C. Woodward of Victoria, B.C., Canada's leading pilot of fighter planes with the Royal Air Force in the western desert, has been appointed to a new post of instructor in a Rhodesia training school, it was announced today.

Known as "Woodie," this 24-year-old aviator, who has already received the Distinguished Flying Cross, has bagged a total of 20 confirmed enemy planes—13 Italian, the rest German. Since he joined the R.A.F. in England in 1938 he has served one and a half years in Egypt's western desert, Greece and Crete, and has not lost a machine or been forced to bail out.

I found "Woodie" resting in the shadow of his Hurricane's wing on a desert airfield in blazing noonday heat. As he fanned his tanned face, he said his toughest battle was "that last scrap over Athens," when 15 Hurricanes sailed into mass formations of German bombers, sending at least 20 hurtling to earth.

"Woodie" has found the Germans more dangerous opponents than the Italians, longed for the early days of desert war when he flew a Gladiator against Italian fighters. "We had thrilling individual dogfights then," he recalled. "It was just like they had in the last war."

Woodward, recently promoted from the rank of flying officer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Woodward of 1587 Fairfield Road. He first entered the war news in September, 1940, when his father was advised he had shot down five Italian planes over Libya, two of them in one day. His D.F.C. was announced last May 8 for gallantry and devotion to duty.

'Misinterpreted'

Edmonton Prophet Explains His Visions

EDMONTON (CP)—Harry Snider, 60-year-old Russian-born seer, who said the war would be over at the end of August and that Hitler and three other dictators would die violently within a week of that day, is now convinced the big events will happen within a week of September 24.

He said Saturday he had "misinterpreted" his visions.

For the first time, Snider has now disclosed the exact nature of the recurrent vision he said came to him last year and on which he based his first prediction the war would be over by August 31.

"I saw a gigantic figure of Adolf Hitler marching through the sky in colossal strides, and each stride took him just past a moon," said Snider, his dark eyes glowing.

"He took 24 strides without faltering, then on the 25th step I saw Hitler suddenly stumble and plunge down into darkness and death."

"Each moon represented a month, and at first I thought this meant that Hitler's downfall would come 24 months, or two years, after the beginning of his war against the world—that is, two years from September 1, 1939, when his troops marched into Poland.

"But what I should have said was that Hitler's downfall would arrive within a month after the second anniversary of the start of the war—in other words, not later than the first new moon after that second anniversary. I misinterpreted my vision. I am sorry. But what I have said now is the truth, and it will happen. I stake everything on it."

He repeated firmly what he said a week ago, that already the tide of battle has turned against the Nazis.

"The great spark of revolt will break out in Germany and in all the lands held captive by Hitler, and this will happen not later than the 24th of this month," he declared. "And Hitler and those three other dictators will die within a week after that."

He said he still could not identify the three others.

Voluble Mr. Hanson

ALTHOUGH IT TOOK HIM A LONG time to make up his mind to go to Britain and see the war at closer range—a trip he might have made many weeks ago, because he had no official duties which required continuous and uninterrupted attention—Mr. R. B. Hanson, leader of the Conservative opposition in the House of Commons at Ottawa, is now in London with the way already paved for his convenience by Mr. Mackenzie King. He will be able to see as much as the Prime Minister saw; he will find public men and ordinary citizens just as ready to tell him anything he may want to know as they were when they met the head of the government.

Mr. Hanson would have measured up to his understanding of his responsibilities in Canada in a much more favorable light, however, if he had been considerably less voluble than he was on the eve of his departure. While he acknowledged in suitable terms everything which Mr. King and his ministerial colleagues had done to facilitate his departure, and in making arrangements for his own and his party's reception on the other side of the Atlantic, he evidently could not resist the temptation to issue a parting statement in which he obviously sought to convey the impression that he and the opposition he leads in the House of Commons had been left entirely in the dark as to what had taken place behind the scenes, as it were, and what might be expected to take place. His words were: "Never at any time has the government consulted us with respect to war policy... we were told certain things, but during the past session we were not told anything that was not known to the general public."

Opinions will differ, of course, on the manner in which Mr. Hanson has discharged his duties as leader of the Conservative opposition in the House of Commons. Not even the staunchest of his political supporters would seriously argue that he was a huge success or that he revealed qualities usually associated with those who aspire at some time to occupy the position of Prime Minister of Canada. It is only necessary to add that those who subscribe to the same political creed as Mr. Hanson are by no means unanimous in their view that the present House leader is the man who should head the ballot when the National Conservative Party meets to select a leader in the fall. In any event, the eminent Canadian now on his "fact-finding" mission to Britain did not add to his political stature when he delivered his parting shot at the head of the government. Not only were some of his observations not in the best of taste; Mr. Hanson's reputation would not have suffered had he waited until he could have placed what he had learned overseas side by side with the complaints he made on his departure.

Why Volunteers?

NAZI SPOKESMEN ARE NOT COMING on reports that German troops from the occupied countries in the west have been hurriedly withdrawn and transported to the eastern front. Moscow advises nevertheless testify to the authenticity of such movements; prisoners captured in the middle and northern sectors are supposed to have furnished the information. Whether the reports are true or not, however, Berlin did announce the other day that the S.S. Elite Corps was being opened to volunteers between the ages of 17 and 45.

This appeal is difficult to understand at this distance without explanation. Not long after Hitler assumed power in 1933 the men of Berlin rode roughshod over that provision in the Treaty of Versailles which proscribed conscription; and many millions in the Reich were eligible for military service at the will of the Fuehrer. What precisely, then, is the meaning of this call for volunteers at this stage of the war if not to implement the supply of cannon fodder against the day when even the great military machine shall have begun to feel the need for replenishment? On the other hand, of course, the call may be a publicity trick—to be followed later by the announcement that the flood of applicants for admission to the Elite Corps is proof positive for all the world to note that the cause of the Fuehrer is the cause of all the people of the Reich. But the march of events would dilute or enhance the point in such a dodge. Again, it might mean that from men of 45—many of whom are probably veterans of the first Great War—Hitler prefers to have in his S.S. Corps only those who gain admittance of their own free will. A draft of men of this age would include thousands who well remember the free days of the Weimar Republic, and who are less pliable Nazis than the younger men; their interest in the movement could easily run counter to that of their chief.

The call opens up a wide field of speculation, much of which might easily be far off the mark. But in this unpredictable of all wars straws in the wind of surmise merit more than perfunctory examination. The announcement of this policy of attracting new manpower to the armies of the Reich, whether for the Elite Corps or for Labor battalions, coupled with the not unlikely transference of troops from west to east, is a point of interest to be noted and considered when more information is available.

May Be His Undoing

TO THE NUMBER OF THOSE WHO appeal to passion and prejudice in these testing times must now be added the name of ex-Colonel Charles Augustus Lindbergh. At his by no means calm meeting in Des Moines, Iowa, last Thursday night he attacked those Americans who belong to the Jewish race; he has taken a leaf out of the Nazi book of organized tyranny. How he hopes to strengthen the weak appeal of the America First Committee by resorting to such despicable tactics is a question only he can decide. The people of the United States are not likely to take kindly to the philosophy of Germany's Julius Streicher as now expounded by the former "lone eagle." Jew-baiting has no place in a democracy; he who tries it plays with fire.

All that Lindbergh could bring himself to say at Des Moines in behalf of a race with whose sufferings the world is all too familiar was that everybody regretted the treatment to which the Jews of Germany had been subjected. Small wonder a goodly number in his audience manifested disgust. Anti-Semitism, of course, goes hand in hand with anti-Catholicism and anti-Protestantism; it will not be surprising if decent folk in the neighboring republic label the Des Moines outburst of Charles Augustus Lindbergh as even more un-American in all its implications than those activities into which the Dies Committee has conducted its long-drawn-out investigations.

What will strike most people now more emphatically than before is the fact that ever since he began his extraordinary defeatist campaign—so far as we have been able to discover—Mr. Lindbergh has voiced no condemnation of the Hitler regime and the ghastly practices of which it has been guilty during its eight years in control of the German Reich. His whole attitude toward the Nazi gang has rested on his own personal belief that the United States and all the other countries of the world ought not to find it difficult to get along with the Berlin hierarchy if they would only try to understand and co-operate with its members. But any impression he had made on his fellow citizens in the earlier days of his misguided crusade—and he did obtain a substantial following for a time—he has now destroyed by his charge that the American Jew, in collusion with the British and the Roosevelt administration, is guilty of helping to "push the United States into war."

Mr. Lindbergh's Des Moines speech, of course, fits in with the Wheeler-Wyke vendetta against the movie industry—those men and women of Hollywood who have not hesitated to expose the brutality of the men of Berlin with whom the former hero-aviator believes his fellow Americans should be able to live in harmony.

September 14, 1812-1941

TWO HISTORIC INVASIONS OF RUSSIA from western Europe, one by Napoleon and one by Hitler, present a remarkable parallel.

Napoleon attacked Russia on June 24, 1812. Hitler attacked on June 22, 1941. Both expected to win a complete victory before autumn.

Napoleon and Hitler both had conquered most of Europe with the exception of Great Britain. Both were baffled by British sea power.

Both Hitler and Napoleon had had treaties of expediency with Russia, which they violated when the time was ripe.

Hitler, with a two-day start and the advantage of mechanized equipment, entered Smolensk in mid-July. Napoleon did not get that far until mid-August.

Napoleon entered Moscow on September 14. Yesterday was September 14, with Hitler still about 225 miles from Moscow.

Russia was the beginning of the end for Napoleon. It led to Waterloo and the triumph of Britain. History points to the approach of another Waterloo for another ex-corporal.

CANADA ON THE FENCE AGAIN

From Toronto Globe and Mail

There seems no valid reason why our government should delay establishment of friendly formal contacts with Russia through the exchange of diplomatic representatives, and we hope that no subtle pressure is being exercised to check such an eminently wise action.

There are indications that the isolationists in the United States are busily exploiting for their own ends the well-known distaste of the Roman Catholic Church for "godless Russia" and arguing that any form of co-operation with it is undesirable; two prominent isolationist leaders, Senators Hiram Johnson and Bennett Clark, played upon this note in their comments on the Roosevelt-Churchill conference. But it is supremely important that Canada should give every possible help to impair the validity of the arguments of American isolationists, and this new argument of theirs would lose a good deal of its force if the Dominion, with over 40 per cent of her population composed of Roman Catholics, were to establish relations with Russia.

We feel sure that Mr. Churchill, who has generously voiced his appreciation of Russia's help, would approve such a course just as much as he commends the retention of M. Risteltueber.

THE ACTORS

LISTENING TO Mr. Roosevelt's momentous speech the other night, one was struck irreverently by something apart altogether from the historic contents. I mean the President's ability as an actor. A great politician, a great leader of any sort must be a great actor. Without the actor's ability to project himself and his ideas into the imagination of others, no man can lead a nation or even a city council. The statesman is half actor or he is no statesman. The great man who cannot act becomes instead the philosopher, the scientist or the expert. He cannot hope to be the leader, for the people will not follow mere information, mere knowledge. They must have an idea and the idea cannot be conveyed in words or in facts. It must be carried by the magic of personality. That is the actor's job.

Roosevelt is one of the world's greatest actors, besides being one of its greatest men. Often I have watched him at a distance of a few feet and observed his unconscious ability to project his personality clear through a crowded room so that even if you are in the tenth room, by the door, you can feel it. No actor in Hollywood is so able as this. The movie folk must have make-up and close-ups and a director and a plot. Roosevelt needs no props of any sort. He merely talks, but the words shine out of him like neon signs. The ideas crackle through the room like lightning and you feel as you leave that you have just had an injection of some strong stimulant. The turn of the head, the flash of the eye, the set of the jaw, the smile all are consummate acting. But not acting in the low sense of imitation. Nothing theatrical about it, nothing snooty; just the intangible and magic ability to take an abstraction and put flesh on it, to take an idea and make it walk through the land.

POPPIES

CHURCHILL must have the same capacity, perhaps in still greater measure. I have never seen him, but you get the feeling of it in his speeches. Apart from their magnificence of language they have the true magic of personality in every word. Another man could take the same words, a man of equal ability and as great knowledge, he could recite them without change and they would fall quite flat. But with Churchill every word bursts out like a new-blown poppy.

Each statesman who intends to lead his people must have his own act. I do not mean by that an artificial and false act such as you get in minor politicians, in the posturings and grimaces that we occasionally see in mountebanks, quickly discovered by the public and rejected. One could name names, but it is more merciful to forget these amateur practitioners, these hams of the political stage. The great man's acting is an essential part of him, not a synthetic pose, originated before mirrors in his locked bedroom. The great man then must have his own act and can have no other because it is a part of him. It becomes in time so familiar to the people that they want no other. Were Mr. Roosevelt to turn meek or Mr. Churchill cease to be earthy, the public would lose all confidence in them. Were Mr. King to turn dramatic like these other two, the people would know something was wrong, that he was putting on an act.

Thus, as Emerson says, nature is constantly heaving up great men out of its volcano, but it never heaves up two the same. When the great man has served his purpose and dies the mould is broken. His successor may be as great or greater but will never be the same. Thus nature, by careful installations, supplies in each generation the virtues and strengths currently required. And at the same time the danger of great men is guarded against. A continual succession of men of the same sort would fasten tyranny upon the state, but nature makes sure that none of them lasts too long. A new leader arises, with new ways and new virtues, and the state renews itself.

Even Hitler will be gone shortly. There is an actor whose time upon the stage is bound to be short, a kind of wild interlude between the serious acts of humanity. No people, not even the Germans, could endure such an exaggerated form of acting, such a ranting star long, whereas the more quiet character actors can go on for years and years without annoying the public ear.

But there is a great danger in all this outpouring of histrionics in our current politics. Seldom has the world seen such drama, such a caste—Churchill, Roosevelt, Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini all before the footlights of history at once; grouped thus not because they resemble one another in any sense, but because fate has thrown them all into the same immortal play. There is a danger in such an unprecedented outpouring of genius because we may find our minor politicians trying to imitate their abilities. I have known provincial politicians who acted rather well, but the new candidate had better not try it. If he has an act in his nature, something vivid and powerful, it will come out itself in time. But when you force it, instead of a tragedian you are likely to turn out a comedian, as Hitler will become in time.

THANK GOD FOR RUSSIA

In this special week of reconstruction and prayer in Canada one could do worse than to thank the Almighty for the magnificent fight of Soviet Russia.

If the whole war picture has changed, as it surely has in 13 weeks, it is because human beings in Russia have fought for all mankind as well as for themselves, as bravely and intelligently as human beings have ever fought.

The German Wehrmacht, or war monster, which rolled at the Red lines on June 22 was the most formidable striking force ever created by man. It was not only the product of many years of total effort by as advanced a mechanized and scientific a nation as there is in the world. But it had been tried and tempered in almost two years of victorious fighting, in which no land force had been able to stand against it; and in which had formerly been the strongest military power in Europe had been crushed with almost ridiculous ease, but awful extent.

Now, at the beginning of the 13th week of that campaign, this terror to all the world is but a mauled and mangled reminder of the sleek monster of the beginning.

The Germans have not yet captured one single objective of decisive importance. Half of the men which entered the campaign have been either killed, wounded, captured, or otherwise incapacitated—if one accepts as authentic the estimate given by Mr. Churchill himself. And in spite of losses probably as great in flesh-and-blood and heavier in the materials of war, the Soviet defenders stand today not only unconquered, but breathing the spirit of attack.

And around them there closes in their historic ally, the winter, friend of the defence and terror of every invader from time out of memory.

WHAT WINS WARS

The lessons of history are not hard to read. The nations which win wars are those which get stronger as the wars go on. The nations which lose wars are those who start at the peak, and whose power declines.

Hitler thought that he had the answer to this reality when he loosed the blitz tactics on the world—whose purpose was that the victims should be completely overcome before they had a chance to get going—much less before they had a chance to organize their increasing strength.

That is the secret—such as it is—of British seapower and it may prove to be that it was the stranglehold of this seapower which forced the German generals to attack Russia—because they had no other hope of getting the means even to keep on fighting.

But whatever the reason the Germans are now caught both by land and sea. On the oceans they have against them two powers whose force will apply more tightly day by day. On land they are caught in the hug of a gigantic bear, only now really beginning to show his strength.

Thank God for Russia, whose sons, by millions, have paid the price of halting the world bully. Like the rest of us they were not anxious to fight. Like the best of us they stood their ground when the test came. And thank God they still are there.

What's Wrong With Our Army?

From Edmonton Journal

The objective of military training in Canada announced by Defence Minister Ralston recently, is the only one that will satisfy the soldiers and the public of the Dominion. Canadian troops, said Col. Ralston, should be able to board transports at Canadian ports "trained and equipped with all major items of equipment and ready to take on an operational role." But if this goal is to be reached within a reasonable time, the scope of training will have to be enlarged greatly and the methods altered radically.

If Canadian troops are to be ready on disembarkation to go straight into action against such an opponent as the Nazi army, they must be able not only to make the best use of themselves and their equipment as battalions, batteries and other small units, but must be accustomed to move and fight as brigades and divisions in the closest co-operation and with high-speed mechanized land forces and with aircraft as well.

From all information available, the scope of training in general use in the Dominion today carries the man in the ranks—and his officers—to a point where he has become fairly familiar with the capacities and limitations of his own immediate unit, whether this be the infantry battalion, the artillery battery, the machine-gun company, the tank battalion, the engineer company, the army service corps company, the signal company, or the medical corps field ambulance unit. But the opportunities for co-operative training with all units, including air formations, are conspicuous by their rarity. Yet co-operation of all units is the key to success in battle.

Unless training envisages exercises involving brigade and divisional operations, including the use of all modern weapons and formations, the men in command, from major generals down to captains and lieutenants, not to mention sergeants, will have little experience in "thinking at 30 miles an hour."

Such diversified and extended training is not beyond the reach of the Dominion. Yet defenders of the present methods would have the people of Canada believe that about all the Dominion can do is to "teach the recruit to walk before he is ordered to run." One of these defenders of things as they are, whose article appeared lately in the Calgary Herald, lays stress on the splendidly trained Canadian Corps under General McNaughton's command in Britain. What is being discussed, however, is training in Canada, not overseas, and Mr. Ralston has made it plain now that this training in Canada must be complete in every way. The recruit must be taught to run as well as walk.

How vital is the need of training officers and men in close co-operation with aircraft as well as all weapons and formations used on the ground is testified to by those, civilian and military alike, in closest touch with Nazi methods of warfare—methods which, so far, have proved almost uniformly successful. Listen to these authoritative spokesmen:

Prime Minister Churchill: "I think it is of the utmost consequence that every division, especially every armored division, should have a chance to live its daily life and training in close and precise relationship with a particular number of aircraft that it knows, and that it can call up at will and need."

General Sir Claude Auchinleck: "The whole system of war as we knew it in 1914-18 has been changed. We must recognize aircraft as the most vital weapon; we must teach tanks, artillery and infantry to co-operate with it."

General Sir Archibald Wavell: "Nothing can be done without air power."

Lieut. General A. G. L. McNaughton: "Modern warfare requires such co-ordination that it is just not possible to detach one section (of the Canadian Corps) and send it away. We've even got our own air force now and every section of the corps is being taught interdependence of each branch on the other."

The simple truth is that military training in Canada has made no effort yet to gain experience in co-operation with all arms, including aircraft. Lack of equipment has been a reasonable excuse in the past. It will avail no longer.

The Calgary defender of existing training methods says "critics seem to want to see raw recruits taken out and plunged at once into regimental, brigade and divisional tactics." Nothing of the sort! Men who have been in infantry battalions for a year and more cannot be called "recruits" by any stretch of the imagination, and Edmonton knows of a couple of active service battalions, still in Canada, which know nothing yet of brigade or divisional operations and nothing of fighting in close co-operation with aircraft, tanks, artillery, engineers, army service corps and army medical corps.

Now that Defence Minister Ralston has made operations against the enemy the objective of military training in Canada, the people of the Dominion will hope to hear of, if they do not actually see, their soldiers taking part in realistic exercises in which all weapons and formations take an active part.

CHEESE FOR BRITAIN

From Winnipeg Tribune

Doing without cheese has probably been among the bitterest of blows to the British, so it is good to know that since the beginning of April Canada has sent 15,000,000 pounds of it to the old land and about 100,000,000 more pounds are scheduled for shipment in the next nine months.

Like bacon and pork products, cheese is one of the commodities Canadians are asked to go easy with in order that the valiant men, women and children across the sea have these basic foods.

Shortly, every major activity will have to be scrutinized to see whether it adds to, or detracts from, the defence program.—John I. Yellott, engineering defence training director.

Heroine of London Bombing Bride of Canadian

ALDERSHOT, Eng. (CP) — Marjorie Price, pretty Canadian heroine of the Cafe de Paris bombing last March, and Capt. A. A. Hugman of Montreal were married Saturday in a colorful ceremony at the Aldershot Garrison Church, where England's most fashionable military weddings have taken place for generations.

It was the largest military wedding in England since the start of the war. The big church, draped with the dusty battle-tattered colors of some of Britain's famous regiments, was filled with a distinguished gathering of Canadian Army officers.

Beside the bride's father, Maj. Gen. C. B. Price, commander of the Third Division, there were also present Maj. Gen. Victor Odum, commander of the Second Division; Maj. Gen. P. J. Montague, senior officer of Canadian military headquarters in London; and a score of brigadiers, colonels and high senior officers of the Canadian Corps. Mrs. Pearkes accompanied Gen. Pearkes.

There was a particularly large turnout from the Third Division. Lt. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian Corps, was unable to attend because of other duties.

Miss Price, a lance-corporal in the A.T.A., was given away by her father. An attractive blonde, she wore a blue-pleated dress—the same color as the Third Division battle patches—a brown hat with veil and a necklace of pearls. She carried a bouquet of roses tied with blue and white ribbons, the colors of her husband's regiment, and the A.T.A. orange and black. She wore brown shoes.

The couple are honeymooning somewhere in England, after which they will return to the Canadian camp, where the bridegroom will rejoin his unit.

Old Silk Stockings Keep Seamen Warm

There are many reasons for a woman wearing silk stockings, but never to keep her legs warm. Now the navy says that those featherweight bits of feminine allure can keep a burly seaman from freezing when on sea patrol.

The Royal Navy makes special appeal to women to keep their worn-out hose and send them to salvage headquarters where they are treated and converted into snug, warm wristbands. Miss Eva S. Carey, 1420 Fort Street, noticed the story in a recent issue of the Southampton (England) Echo. It reads: "Never throw away old silk stockings; they will help to keep warm the men in the mine-sweepers."

The navy knows a way of turning your silk stockings into wristbands by treating the legs and tops with oil. They help to keep out the freezing spray, and warm wrists make for warm bodies.

The ladies are then invited to send their old silk hose to a social service headquarters, and from then on the "silent service" takes over, emerging with an article, not so glamorous, perhaps, as its original intent, but a vital adjunct to the equipment of our men who are keeping Britain's sea lanes open.

New C.W.A.C. Uniforms

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston announced today that design of a service uniform for the Canadian Women's Army Corps has been officially approved.

Designed by a Canadian couturier working under defence headquarters instructions, the final model was approved for serviceability and its neat, smart appearance by a committee of prominent Canadian women.

The uniform is made of khaki barathea and several innovations give it distinctive Canadian lines. Uniforms will be issued at the completion of training courses.

The cap is quite different from that worn by women doing similar service in the British army. It sheers up from a broad peak, then streamlines downward at the back providing room for tucked-in curls. At the back is an arrangement styled after the French army "kepi" that can be folded down for wet or cold weather.

LIKE ARMY OFFICERS

The fitted jacket, cut on long lines, is similar to that of an army officer but has no belt. It has brass buttons and shoulder straps of dark beech brown to contrast with the khaki. There are buttoned pockets of the "belows" type on each side and one breast pocket on the left.

The skirt has a swing effect and is made with six gores. Regulations provide that it is to be 15 inches from the floor.

Brown moccasin-style Oxfords, khaki hosiery and matching brown gloves are worn. The shirt buttons to the neck with a soft, attached collar, and is of fine khaki broadcloth. Dark brown army ties will be worn. The khaki melton-cloth greatcoat is fitted with half-belt at the back. Buttons are regulation brass, and pockets are slashed in military style. A wide collar and wide lapels will button close.

The raincoat is raglan style with full belt and is made of fawn-colored cloth, wind and waterproof. Brown rubbers and overshoes will be issued and other woolen accessories including pull-over and wool scarf.

In addition to the issue of clothing each girl will receive an allowance to buy underclothing.

Badge designs for the C.W.A.C. have not yet been approved but Col. Ralston said a decision will be reached shortly.

WEDDINGS

COLLINS—AKEHURST

At St. Barnabas Church, Saturday evening at 8, Rev. Canon N. Smith united in marriage Alfreda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Akehurst, 411 Mary Street, and Edward Collins, 774 Hill Street, youngest son of Mrs. M. Collins of Vancouver and the late Mr. T. Collins of Victoria. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a two-toned redingote ensemble in mauve and violet, with black velvet hat fashioned in bonnet style, black accessories and corsage of gardenias and rosebuds. With her costume she wore a gold locket, a possession of her mother's, and she was unattended. Mr. Richard Jackson acted as groomsman.

For the reception which followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Akehurst received her guests in a mauve silk crepe costume, gold embroidery featuring the V-necked bodice, with black hat and accessories and corsage of rosebuds. The groom's mother assisted her, choosing a Wedgwood blue costume with black accessories and hat, complemented by a corsage of rosebuds. A hand-made lace cloth covered the bridal table, which was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature horse shoe. Mauve and pink asters in silver baskets completed the decorations and the bride cut the cake with the knife used by her grandmother and mother for their weddings.

For her honeymoon trip to the mainland the bride changed to a pottery-rose wool frock, over which she wore a beige wool coat with bleached wolf collar and beige hat and accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Collins will make their home on Hill Street, Victoria. The groom's aunt, Mrs. C. Daly of Vancouver, was a guest at the wedding.

SAXON-BERNARD

At a quiet ceremony Saturday evening at 8, at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. James Hood, 465 Grafton Street, Emily Patricia (Pat), youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. Bernard of Regina, and sister of Mrs. B. A. Barker, 1345 Lyall Street, Victoria, became the bride of Signalman Bertram Anthony Saxon, R.C.N.V.R., of Victoria, second son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Saxon, Regina.

The bride, who was given away by her brother Mr. Harry Bernard, wore a becoming navy blue crepe frock, styled on princess lines, with high neck, three-quarter sleeves and front fullness in the skirt. Her light felt hat with shoulder-length veil and accessories were in wine shade, matching her frock's insert of embroidery at the waistline, and she wore a corsage of pink rosebuds and heather. Her sister was her only attendant, wearing a simple teal blue afternoon frock, the bodice marked by embroidery in lighter shade, with matching hat and short veil and accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and delphinium. Mr. W. McCorkell, R.C.N.V.R., acted as groomsman.

For the reception which followed at the home of Mrs. F. D. Davidson, 3520 Quadra Street, a friend of the groom's family, Mrs. Davidson chose a handsome Air Force blue crepe gown appliqued with blue sequins, the bodice being styled with a V neck, and short sleeves, the skirt falling to the floor in semi-fullness. With it she wore a corsage of pink carnations. The reception rooms were decorated with bouquets of autumn-hued chrysanthemums, white and rusty shaded gladioli decorating the dining-room and on the bridal table was a three-tiered wedding cake topped by an ornament of silver bells.

After a brief honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Saxon will make their home at 2890 Glenwood Avenue.

NOBLE—RIDDLE

The marriage of Olive Phoebe, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Riddle, 804 Seymour Avenue, to John Russell Noble, second son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Noble, 3440 Maplewood Road, took place Saturday evening at 8.30 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiating. The church was decorated by the bride's aunt, Mrs. P. Riddle, and Mrs. S. Hawkins, with pink, white and blue asters, golden rod and ferns, and the guest pews marked by bows of white organdy, centred with pink cosmos.

The organist, Mr. C. C. Warren, played the wedding marches and as the register was being signed Miss Elsie Fryatt sang "God Gave Me You."

The bride, given away by her father, wore a gown of white silk net over taffeta, with flowered lace top, sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and matching mittens, with a hip-length veil of white net hung from a Mary Queen of Scots head-dress and large blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of pink rosebuds and pink and white asters.

The matron of honor, Mrs. W. Clarke, cousin of the bride, wore a French blue chiffon floor-length dress with matching long sleeve jacket, wide brimmed crownless picture hat, and the bridesmaid, Miss Leah Noble, sister of the groom, was in powder blue chiffon, with high neckline, long full sleeves, small white stars on bodice and a matching Juliet cap with satin trim. Their matching colonial bouquets were pastel shaded asters and snapdragon. The flower girls, little Katharine Riddle, cousin of the bride and little Marilyn Reid, were dressed in short dresses of pink embroidered organdy trimmed with white lace and sashes and hair bows of pink tulle. They carried shallow oval baskets of blue violas, pink phlox and yellow baby marguerites. The best man was Mr. James Noble, brother of the groom, and ushers were Mr. Walter Riddle, brother of the bride, Mr. Douglas Reid and Mr. Ebert Munroe.

The bride's mother, wearing a burgundy flowered-lace jacket dress, wide-brimmed rose mohair hat, with rose accessories, pink and cream rosebud and maiden-hair fern corsage, assisted by the groom's mother, wearing a Marina blue chiffon dinner gown, long sleeves, golden-beige wide-brimmed French imported straw hat, matching accessories, and deep-rose carnations for corsage, received the guests at the K. of P. Hall. The bride and groom stood in front of a bank of flowers, flanked by two larger baskets of Michaelmas daisies and golden rod. The supper table was covered with an Irish linen tablecloth, a wedding present to the bride's mother, centred with the three-tiered cake trimmed with pink rosebuds, with silver bell on top, flanked by rose and cream pottery candleholders with ivory candles and bowls of pink and white phlox and trailing greenery.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. Noble, Seattle, aunt and uncle of the groom, and Mr. James Noble of Vancouver.

For the honeymoon, motoring on the mainland, the bride donned a Morocco tan dress with olive green redingote, with matching tan hat and accessories, and a corsage of orchids. They will reside on return in their new home on Kenneth Street, off Quadra.

Among the gifts were: From the Astronomical Society Council, of which the bride is secretary, a silver entree dish; fellow school teachers of the bride at St. Douglas High School, matched silver candle holders and flower basket; McDowell Plumbing and Heating, where groom is employed, a trile lamp; United Commercial Travelers and Ladies' Auxiliary, a walnut matched inlay occasional table.

FISHER—BISHOP

Members of both families and a few intimate friends attended the quiet wedding solemnized Monday, September 8, at 3 p.m. at St. Saviour's Church, Victoria West, when Rev. Alfred Lord united in marriage Eloise Angeline, fourth daughter of Sergeant and Mrs. A. H. Bishop, Skinner Street, and Chief Petty Officer John Wellington Fisher, R.C.N., son of Mrs. Charles Fisher, Uplands, and the late Hon. Charles Fisher.

The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her father and wore a navy blue afternoon frock with a navy blue hat and bag and beige gloves. Pinned to her camel hair coat was a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and bouvardia. Mr. Leslie Carver was best man. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left by motor for a honeymoon up-Island and at Harrison Hot Springs. They returned to Victoria Friday and are making their home in Esquimalt.

Junkers, in Moonlight Bombed U.S. Vessel

WASHINGTON (AP) — "A Junkers 88 or, at any rate, a German" is blamed in a sworn statement of an officer of the S.S. Steel Seafarer for the sinking of his ship in the Red Sea September 5.

The state department issued the affidavit, by Joseph M. C. Suka, third officer of the American-owned vessel, who swore to it at Suez. Suka's statement, which followed disclosure from British sources in Cairo that the attacking plane was a German bomber based in Greece, said:

"I was standing alongside the captain when I heard a motor that sounded as if it belonged to a plane.

"We looked towards the apparent direction of the plane and saw it approaching towards us on the starboard side.

"The moon was full and directly overhead.

"The visibility was perfect. I could even see the plane's exhaust sparkling.

"It was a twin motored plane, very large, and heavily built with a snub nose.

"I have consulted Italian and German silhouettes of planes and I firmly believe the plane I saw was most probably a Junkers 88 or, at any rate a German plane and not an Italian.

The plane passed directly over the ship about 250 feet, as well as I can judge, above the main mast.

"About two seconds after the plane was clear of the ship I heard a muffled explosion to me to be below the water line.

(One word was missing in the state department's message from the above paragraph, and it was assumed to be the word "seeming" which would make it read it seemed to Suka to "have come from below the water line.)

"About a second later another explosion which appeared to be a little louder than the first.

"I believe that the plane could have had no difficulty in identifying the ship."

Reconsecrational Addresses

Civilians' Big Job To Aid Enlistment

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston last night appealed to the Canadian public to take up the job of encouraging and convincing men to enlist in the fighting forces—"a job that will be getting bigger as the months go by."

"The job of supplying men calls for the personal effort of every Canadian," Col. Ralston said in a reconsecration week address broadcast over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

"It's a steady job for everybody. It's a real war job because fighting men are the very foundation of our war activities and the best guarantee of victory."

Col. Ralston said he did not minimize for an instant the service which thousands of Canadians were rendering in connection with war activities.

"But," he said, "we civilians engaged in what we think is war work in office or factory or anywhere else must recognize that any contribution we make lacks the supreme quality of the service rendered by the sailor, the soldier or the airman—namely, the pledge of life itself.

CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

"In a word, the men in uniform bind themselves to what is genuine sacrifice, but the contribution which the rest of us give is at most only self-denial."

The men of the armed forces were truly "the champions of our freedom."

Canadians were facing more years of war, the minister said, but how many, no man could tell. With the start of the third year of war, Canadians would have to go to it harder than ever, he said.

"Hitler isn't going to quit because you buy war savings certificates. He isn't going to be stopped by the ships and tanks and guns and planes you make unless men are ready to pledge not just their dollars and their comfort but their lives, if need be, to meet and beat him."

NAVY MINISTER

Navy Minister Macdonald, also on the air, said Britain and her people may have made mistakes in the past, but he was content to "place in the other balance the valor and fortitude of the British race in these last two years and await the tipping of the scale."

The strength of Canadian armed forces had grown to a degree which few Canadians would have thought possible two years ago... achievements that have captured the imagination of all British people," he said.

"No praise can be too high for the men who man our merchant ships, carrying to Britain those supplies that are essential to the life of the people of that island, and the prosecution of the war," he added.

The historian of the war might write of the gallantry of British sailors and British and Dominion troops and of airmen in defending Britain and attacking Germany.

"But yet, if he writes truly and judges wisely, his most glowing story will be the tale of the civilians of Britain."

2 Seattle Men Die on Mountain

SEATTLE (AP)—Two veteran Seattle city employees died early yesterday on Sourdough Mountain, near Diablo Dam, Wash., from exposure and exhaustion after one of the men had returned from a safety point to aid the other and his wife.

The two men, Clarence E. Hale, Diablo powerhouse operator, and Conrad Opitz, junior operator, were climbing the mountain late Saturday night with their wives when overtaken by a sudden snowstorm.

Mr. and Mrs. Hale reached Lookout Point ahead of the Opitzes and Hale set back to assist the others. Opitz was exhausted when Hale reached him so the trio decided to stay where they were overnight.

In the morning Mrs. Opitz joined Mrs. Hale at the lookout and Mrs. Hale started to Diablo for help.

Mrs. Hale obtained the aid of Clarence McGuire, a forest ranger, and Bruce Duncan, a lookout. The men were found dead about 150 feet off the trail.

MELBOURNE (AP) — Additional classes of farm workers in Australia have been exempted from military service owing to a labor shortage.

Two Drowned at Dundas Island

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—Provincial police reports reaching here today said John Harold H. Oden, 35-year-old salmon troller, and his four-year-old son drowned Saturday at the Dundas Island trolling ground outside Prince Rupert, and that an attempt by Mrs. Oden to save them nearly resulted in her death.

Four-year-old Freddie Oden fell overboard from his father's trolling boat Aina near the entrance to Hudson Bay Passage. The father jumped into the water to save the child but was overcome himself and his wife looked on helplessly.

Police said they learned Mrs. Oden took to Aina's small skiff in an attempt to pick up the two, but was found in the water by rescuers, entangled in fish-lines from the Aina's trolling poles and in a state of collapse.

Rufus Dudoward and his son Rex, of Port Simpson, were fishing nearby. Although they did not witness the drownings, they saw the Aina was in difficulty.

Rex Dudoward put out in a skiff from their boat, the May D., and found Mrs. Oden entangled in fishing lines in the water. He cut the lines and pulled the woman aboard. Meanwhile the elder Dudoward found the body of Oden floating on the water, but artificial respiration proved unsuccessful.

The Mary D. cruised the spot for some time, searching for the body of Freddie without success. A provincial police launch continued the search Sunday without avail.

An inquiry is being made into the drownings by the deputy coroner.

Workers Ignore Invitation

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP)

The number of workers who accepted the invitation of Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, to return to work at the strikebound plant of McKinnon Industries Ltd. was insufficient to start production, W. A. Wecker, general manager, said today.

Wecker said 600 were at work in the plant, but of these only 275 who reported this morning, beginning the fifth day of the strike, were engaged in department affected by the walkout of members of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.).

The men who went to work this morning were kept busy on odd jobs, but it was impossible to start production of the parts McKinnon makes for several Ontario industries, Wecker said.

The plant opened its gates at 7 a.m. and more than 200 Royal Canadian Mounted Police stood guard to prevent mass picketing of the approaches to the plant and guard employees against interference.

Robert Stacey, international representative of the U.A.W.A., which called the strike to gain higher wages, said "the workers are sticking to their demands in spite of the high-pressure campaign to incite hysteria, provoke violence and a breakdown in their morale.

"The back-to-work movement under a threat of force was a fizzle—our position remains the same," he said. "The union is willing to enter negotiations at any time with the company to reach an amicable settlement."

Wecker termed the company's position concerning negotiations with the union as unchanged.

"In view of Mr. McLarty's statement we are not in a position to negotiate," he said. "All we can do is accept any workers who want to come back to work." (Labor Minister McLarty last week condemned the strike as a 'deliberate attempt to undermine the wage policy of the Dominion government.')

By PETE SALLAWAY

WHEN East Calling captured the seventh race at the Willows on Thursday we know few of the fans were aware of the human interest story that surrounds this six-year-old bay gelding and his Vancouver owner, J. C. Thompson. It is one of those episodes that do much to make the Sport of Kings so popular with so many.

East Calling was purchased as a two-year-old for $5,000 by Major Austin Taylor, prominent Vancouver sportsman, at the famous Saratoga thoroughbred sales. When Major Taylor was willing to go so high, the thoroughbred must have had everything to make him appear a bright racing prospect. The gelding is of high class blood lines by Singapore out of Phyllis Dare.

The gelding raced a few times under the A.C.T. Stock Farm colors at Santa Anita but did not face the starter enough times to really prove himself, before being returned to the Taylor farm on the mainland.

One evening in Vancouver Taylor and E. W. Hamber, then Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, were having dinner together, when the latter expressed a desire to secure a good thoroughbred saddle horse for personal use on his ranch in the Fraser Valley. Taylor made his friend a gift of East Calling.

Human interest part of the story started right then. Joe Thompson, who does most of the trucking for the horsemen in Vancouver, was contacted to haul East Calling to the Hamber ranch. On arrival at the Taylor farm Thompson, a former cowboy, fell in love with the horse.

Horse Races

Haller Sets Record

Jockey Alex Haller established a riding record for the Willows race meeting Saturday when he scored with four of the five mounts he had during the day.

But it was a case of "an ill wind" for two of the horses he brought down in front were engaged for Jockey Bailey, and had it not been for a bad piece of luck Bailey might very easily have been the boy to ride four winners. Bailey was riding Leba Trebor, the 3 to 5 favorite for the third event. When he began to make his move rounding the clubhouse turn the horse tripped and fell. Bailey went to hospital badly shaken up.

Haller accepted Bailey's mounts on Halstead in the fourth and Thompson describing the incident in his own words said: "I sat down in the horse's stall for fully 15 minutes and admired him. Of course I realized just how impossible it would be for me to ever own such a valuable bit of horseflesh." Thompson delivered East Calling to his new home but didn't forget about the horse.

Some time later Thompson learned that Hamber, after having the horse stumble with him, had decided it was not just sure-footed enough and had discarded him as his own saddle mount. He contacted Hamber with a wish to purchase East Calling but was told he would have to interview Major Taylor. The latter informed Thompson he was perfectly willing for the horse to be sold if Thompson and Hamber could get together on a price. To his delight Thompson made the purchase for $500.

Last spring East Calling was first worked on the jumps but showed such good speed that he was trained on the flat. With the opening of the Vancouver season the gelding made his debut in Joe Thompson's colors. He was first started in sprints but soon showed a liking for distance, by great bursts of speed in the stretch. After an early season start, that was not particularly encouraging, East Calling won two races and was several times in the money on other starts.

Taking his whole season's campaigning into consideration East Calling has displayed good improvement and there is every reason to believe he may be even better next season. And one happy person at the racetrack these days is Joe Thompson, the truck man.

Old Man at Work

Leo Durocher, Brooklyn manager, can't cover as much ground as he once did, but knows what to do with the ball when he gets his mitts on, in sparking his Dodgers in their great drive for the National League championship. In the above picture Durocher has made the throw from second to complete a double play. Johnny Rucker of the New York Giants is out.

Ball Race Panics Fans

Dodgers Still Cling

It will be some time before baseball produces two gamier, more stout-hearted teams than the pair now locked in battle for the National League championship. The fact is emphasized anew daily as the Dodgers and the Cards go into the final furious fortnight.

St. Louis Cardinals perhaps displayed the sterner fighting qualities yesterday in overcoming the New York Giants twice, 1 to 0 and 6 to 5, the second tussle going 10 innings. Carl Hubbell, still a master craftsman, held them to three hits in the opener, but they used one of them with a Giant misplay to score and give the veteran Lon Warneke a richly-deserved triumph.

They went into the ninth frame of the second game trailing by two runs, but knocked Cliff Melton from the hill to tie it up and then won out in the 10th on an error by Dick Bartell with the sacks filled.

The double victory enabled the Cards to reduce Brooklyn's lead to a game and a half, despite the Dodgers' hard-earned 7 to 5 victory over Cincinnati. The margin is certain to be changed one way or the other today, as the Cards take a rest while the Dodgers have another shot at the Reds.

Billy Herman fast is getting himself measured for a monument in Brooklyn. The veteran second sacker knocked in the winning run for the second straight day when he poled a homer off Bucky Walters in the ninth to break a 5 to 5 deadlock. The previous day he had beaten the Cards 1 to 0 with a heroic double off Mort Cooper.

The defeat nearly cost Cincinnati third place in the National. Pittsburgh won its first game with the Phils 2 to 1 and appeared to have the nightcap sewed up until the Phils suddenly blasted loose for five runs

Japanese Boy Angling Winner

Officials of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association announced today that Macer (Muzz) Okamoto, Japanese youngster, was the winner of the Alcock Shield in the annual competition held recently at Brentwood. He landed an 8½-pound spring on a Martin plug. Dr. Hugh Clark was runner-up with a 7½-pound salmon, also caught on a Martin plug.

Owing to the lateness of the season the run of fish was small. The competition is sponsored by the Alcock Co. of England, tackle manufacturers, and is open to members who have caught but one fish previous to August 27. This marked the close of the fishing competitions. During the season the members competed for 93 prizes and the association membership was around the 750 mark. Next event for the anglers will be the annual jamboree in November.

In the annual battle for the year's fishing championships Albert Ledson tops the men to date with a salmon weighing 43½ pounds while Mrs. Alan Pendray leads the women with a 28-pounder. To date 52 bronze buttons have been awarded, seven silver and one gold.

Butt fish reported recently to the association secretary follow: Mrs. Edith Pearce, 23½ pounds; A. Nichols, Seattle, 25 pounds; F. Oliver, 20½ pounds; H. Mitchell 22½ pounds.

Whirly Well Beaten

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP)—The big bell rang again Saturday night on Sam Riddle's Kentucky farm for a son of Man o' War won—and War Relic did it the hard way by beating the great Whirlaway in the $25,000 Narragansett special.

The tremendous final drive that has made Whirly famous failed as the three-year-old War Relic won going away to sweep under the wire four and a half lengths in front to stun the crowd of 50,000, which had made Warren Wright's champion the odds-on favorite.

Island Boxla

Bays Victors 26 to 10

By Staff Representative

On Saturday night at Nanaimo Victoria's James Bay boxla squad outchecked, outpassed and outshot Spencer's Braves, to walk off the floor at the end of 60 minutes of play with an impressive 26 to 10 victory.

This was the first fixture of a two-game total-point series for the island championship.

Second game of the series was scheduled here tomorrow night but Nanaimo has asked the date be switched to Saturday, otherwise they will default, putting the Bays into the B.C. final.

It was a great victory for the Victoria team, playing on the large floor surface of the Nanaimo box, a far cry from the miniature edition to which they have been used to here. But in victory the local lads saw one of their best men injured for the series. Doug Bray, colorful back-line man, was sandwiched solidly in front of the Indian goal in the second period and had his right knee dislocated. The injured limb will be in a cast for at least three weeks.

GAME FAST

The game was fast and, except for a little wrestling match between Ed McKim of the Bays and Hugh Smith of the losers one minute from time, was comparatively clean. A traditionally fast-running and fast-breaking aggregation, the Indians showed speed but couldn't solve the Bay defence, and were invariably slowed down at the Victoria blue line. Consequently the majority of the 26 shots thrown at Art McKim were from a long way out and the big goalie experienced little trouble in blocking them.

Austie Cullin opened the scoring after 33 seconds and for half-way through the first period the boys felt each other out, taking no unnecessary chances. At the nine-minute mark Don White, hardest shot on the Indian team, beat McKim with a beautiful stinger but within the next two minutes had his effort nullified by two goals from the stick of Norm Baker and Ritchie Nicol.

That was the beginning of the end. In the second canto the locals outscored their opponents by 5 goals to 2, in the third, 7 to 2, and in the final 10 to 5. After halftime the Bays had everything their own way, the redskins tiring visibly in the late stages.

High man for the winners was Norm Baker, paradoxically enough a Nanaimo boy, who ran in six goals. Arnie Ferguson was runner-up with five, all in the second half, and set up a good many plays besides.

Bob "Buck" Bennie, one of the three white men added to the Braves by permission of the B.C. L.A. as a bolstering factor, did as much scaping on his own as the rest of the team put together. A hard-driving plugger, he managed to crash the Bay defence for five markers. Brothers Don and Doug White contributed the other quintette.

Coast Hockey Season Opens Here Nov. 24

Westminster To Appear; Set Schedule

By Staff Representative

NANAIMO — Opening of the four-team Pacific Coast Amateur Hockey Association will take place on November 10 with Vancouver acting host to Nanaimo. The following night Nanaimo will invade New Westminster. Hockey will be ushered in at the new Victoria rink on the following Friday night with New Westminster as the visiting club. The following night the Royal City squad will be entertained by Nanaimo.

Setting of the opening dates and adoption of the 56-game schedule took place at a meeting of the circuit here yesterday. Representatives attended from the four cities with President Jack Ryan of Nanaimo in the chair. Games will be played Friday nights in Victoria, Saturday in Nanaimo, Monday in Vancouver and Tuesday in New Westminster.

The schedule will carry the clubs into the second week in February, when the play-offs will start. Second and third teams will meet in a best-of-three series, the winner to oppose the first place squad in a best-of-five final. In the regular league each club will play 14 home games and like number away.

NEW COMMISSIONERS

Eric Cox, Victoria, and J. W. Thompson, Vancouver, were elected league commissioners to act along with those already named for Nanaimo and New Westminster.

Delegates at the meeting were of the opinion the amateur hockeyists get their big opportunity this year to popularize the sport in British Columbia, with the abandonment of the Pacific Coast Professional League. All expressed a keen desire to really put the new loop across with the sports public, and the meeting was featured by a note of good sportsmanship between the representatives of the four towns.

Efforts of G. A. Leeder, secretary of the City Amateur Hockey League of Seattle, to have a team from the Sound City included in the coast circuit met with failure. Delegates felt they did not want to add any additional traveling to the itinerary of the clubs this season, and were of the opinion they would have enough problems without adding a fifth club.

The league decided to appoint a traveling referee, and the names of Carl Jacobs, former N.H.L. official, and George Shooter were submitted for consideration. Appointment of the officials will be made by the league commission.

With the possibility that several former Pacific Coast Professional League players may regain their amateur standing the league decided to limit each of the teams to two reinstated Coast League pros. If there should be a surplus the commission has the power to allot to a team they consider needs bolstering.

Most Valuable Players Named

Carl Ovcharick, Eric Lea and Nick Chungranes have been named the most valuable players on their teams in the three local boxla divisions.

All during the season fans had been expecting that Carl, member of the Alerts, would receive the trophy in the senior division. One of those rare all-round men, Ovcharick played rover and was the master mind behind most of his team's scoring plays and was also in front of opposing nets on enough occasions to chalk up quite an enviable scoring record of his own. During his entire lacrosse career in Victoria Carl has drawn only one minor penalty. Three other players, Arnold Ferguson of the Bays, Bill Andrews of the Jokers and Norm Coates of the Alerts, received honorable mention.

Eric Lea is a member of Bob McInnes' McLean's Bakery team and one of the smartest forwards in the business. A good stick-handler and a constant scoring threat, Lea had one of the best goal-getting records in the junior circuit.

Nick Chungranes of the juvenile "A" team, Foul Bay, plays on the forward line, is a good stick-handler, a fast and tricky runner and always plays a driving, scrappy game.

The trophies for the senior and junior players will be presented by their donor, Albert Hewison, and that for Chungranes by donor Vic Simpson, manager of the Douglas Tire Juniors and Saanich Beaver Juniors.

Word was received from Vancouver that the provincial junior and juvenile A championships would be played next Friday and Saturday at the Sports Centre. McLean's Bakery will represent Victoria in the junior section and Foul Bay will play the mainland representative in preliminaries to the junior games at 7 on both evenings.

Fair Attendance Falls Off 3,710

Victoria's 1941 Fall Fair was a memory today, a memory of reduced attendance, bad weather and smaller entries cause by war conditions.

The exhibition wound up Saturday night with the midway claiming major attention while stock owners completed removal of their animals and workmen dismantled stalls in various buildings.

Paid admissions Saturday were 3,493 against 4,288 on wind-up day in 1940. Throughout the week those paying at the outer gate dropped 3,710 from 34,194 last year to 30,484.

"Considering everything," said E. M. Whyte, president of the B.C. Agricultural Association, sponsors of the fair, "we are well satisfied with the results of the exhibition."

He noted strenuous times, adverse weather and falling off of exhibits in certain sections had been detrimental factors this year. Despite the handicaps they faced, stockmen displayed an increased number of animals, he stated. Rain the day before the fair opened and again on Tuesday had cut down the floral entries, while the dry season had seriously influenced the vegetable classes, he said.

Mr. Whyte thanked the merchants, manufacturers and all other exhibitors for the displays they had entered and paid tribute to W. H. Mearns, secretary, and Mrs. J. Donald, assistant secretary, for the manner in which the fair had been conducted.

Changes in the location of certain exhibits, specifically in the Main Building, had been an improvement, he said.

Prizes were awarded Saturday in the school children's decorated tables section, first, second and third honors going respectively to Mary Gunn, Bunty McKay and Jean Harness.

ALL-STARS WIN

SPOKANE (AP)—The Western International League all-stars were a little bit richer today as they headed for their winter hibernation.

The all-stars won their post-season series with the championship Spokane Indians by registering a 14 to 1 triumph Saturday night to take the winner's share of the series' pot. The victory gave them a record of three wins and only one loss.

OTTAWA (CP)—Government proclamations and orders-in-council under the War Measures Act now number more than 500. It was revealed today with publication of a series of booklets compiling regulations issued under this legislation.

Merriman Talks

A friend in Halifax encloses a clipping containing some information that must have escaped notice here. At any rate I missed the explosion that it is likely to cause. It says:

"Word has just been received from the Old Country that the army is to banish the old time-honored institution, 'the batman,' and what is momentous the batman's job is to be taken over by girls of the A.T.S."

In case there should be a reader who doesn't know, a batman is to an officer what a groom is to a horse. He keeps his buttons and shoes shined and his equipment bright and sparkling. If he is a good batman he also sees his officer has a nice hot cup of tea when he wants it or that a Scotch and soda is ready to hand as needed, according to the tastes of his officer.

In the last war so that he could preserve what few comforts there were possible for his officer in a world in which comforts were few and far between he was relieved of some duties but many batmen took their chance in the line with the rest of the men.

Some men drifted into the jobs because they were men who liked that sort of thing. Others were mercenary and like the few extra dollars—and what they could wangle in the way of stolen drinks and so on, and relief from less pleasant fatigues.

CONTENTIOUS SUBJECT

The subject of the batman has always been a contentious one. At the beginning of the war the anti-batman school argued that in the last war the combined forces of batmen numbered enough men to make several thousand fighting battalions and these men were wasting their time on household chores for officers when they could have been shouldering rifles.

The pro-batman school argued that an officer was so busy he needed a batman and because of his special training his time was too valuable to be wasted on the menial tasks of "spit and polish," which, in spite of the vigorous campaign against it by one of Fleet Street's most powerful journals, is being maintained as one of the most important things of army life.

However, the necessity of batmen, or at least the intention to maintain batmen, if only they be batwomen, has been openly declared by the new order.

The experiment will be watched with the closest interest. Joining the modern trend and indulging in prophecy, my guess is that it will be a complete flop.

That ladies may yearn to be nurses, Red Cross workers, canteen helpers, hostesses, dispatch riders.

They showed in the last war they will drive ambulances in battle zones or brave sub-infested water. In short they will face all the dangers that men face. They have showed themselves ready to officiate in the army kitchens. In fact some argue that all army kitchens should be manned by women, but can you expect them to shine a man's boots, to polish his buttons, to scrape the mud from his uniform, from his clothes, heat his shaving water and pack his clothes neatly away. Not even if she is married to him.

BORN 60 YEARS TOO SOON
The man who inspired the order must be a gentleman of the old school who missed the age of the emancipation of women without reading the newspapers.

On the other hand he may be a gay young blade of a subaltern who sees possibilities of brightening up a drab world of men with a cheerful feminine touch.

CANT BEAT THEM
Of the letters received by relatives here from friends in the battle zone of Britain, one received by J. F. Turner of Victoria is outstanding. The letters have inspired admiration of the courage and cheerfulness of the English in face of danger and hardships. This one from Mr. Turner's sister who regrets she is too old to join the women's army in Britain typifies that spirit in a manner that should find a place in the history of the war.

One sentence is outstanding. "It is a great game living now," she writes. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything. We shall have had the honor to come through the greatest of all historical wars with all its misery and laughter, bravery, cheerfulness, selfishness, selflessness, and good comradeship."

"These things bring out the best in people and all the worst. One's real character begins to shine through, good or bad in spite of all you may do to hide it. Hunger and need finds the best and the worst in everyone."

EXCITING SHOPPING
Instead of complaining about rationing, the writer tells of the excitement of shopping. The people there have to do without because ships that used to transport them are needed for other purposes. But there is no word of complaint.

"We don't care as long as we beat those beastly Huns," she says and draws a picture of family shoppers coming home, not depressed at the lack of the luxuries they used to buy, but laughing as they exhibit those they have been able to get as though they had come home from a sports meeting with prizes.

"First one comes in jubilant with the cry 'What do you think I got some chocolate today?'"

"Did you? Where? Well I got some biscuits!"

"Then I chime in," the writer proceeds. "Well I got half a pound of tomatoes and some new potatoes and we are all bucked up when we bring out our purchases. So you can tell how glad we were when your parcel came with all the things we wanted most."

"We manage to laugh at the Huns and make fun of our troubles and that's more than they can do," she adds.

The writer mentions that she often talks to Canadian soldiers in England and finds they are impatient to live a go at Jerry and hate being kept marking time. They are jealous of the Australians who have been fighting with the British troops in the east.

READY FOR THEM

One paragraph shows that the German blitz failed to break the spirit of the people of Britain. The writer is "afraid" it won't be repeated. "Last year around this time" she says, "we were just in the middle of the Battle of Britain and day after day we watched the planes fighting overhead and saw the Germans coming down in planes. I'm afraid the Huns won't do that any more. They got their lesson last year and lost so many. We are hoping they will come now. We are really ready for them."

WORLD DAY FOR ANIMALS

The 14th celebration of World Day for Animals will be held as usual. The secretary of the head office in London—which has been destroyed—urges that the observance will be held despite the war. Therefore, the usual sale, entertainment and tea will take place in the Sons of England, Broad Street, October 4. The day is dedicated to the patron saint of animals, St. Francis of Assisi, and is supported by all religious faiths.

Mrs. F. Saxon-White and Miss H. Biggin will be in charge of refreshments. Mrs. R. Knight and Miss E. LeGresley will sell home-made articles and Miss N. K. Wyles and Mrs. J. Iverson the superfluities. A committee of ladies will serve visitors at the tea tables.

Half the net proceeds will be forwarded to aid animals that are injured, homeless and starving. DORA KITTO.

SAANICH WELLS
In answer to a letter by Mr. W. E. Perry, published Sunday, saying that the city of Victoria water supply is vulnerable, I wish to point out that a long ribbon of flow line can, and probably is, camouflaged. A proposed system of a group of wells, about 190 feet apart, located near a coast line, could be totally destroyed by one bomb.

A flow line could be temporarily repaired in so many hours, but a group of wells, if bombed, would not exist. As the proposed well system of supply is designed by the consulting engineer for a population of 15,500 at the end of 30 years, how can the Saanich wells be expected to supply the city of Victoria when it is known that the population of Saanich is today 20,000?

The consulting engineer's report can be read in the press dated November 16, 1940. C. E. HAWTHORNE 2851 Colquitz Avenue.

SAANICH WELLS
A study of the circular letter of August 12 distributed by the Saanich Council, on the proposed water supply scheme, and a study of the corporation's annual reports seems to make the statistical contents of the circular not according to facts. It is seemingly prepared to put over the scheme without regard to ultimate cost or results.

The annual reports show that the retelling of water by Saanich to the ratepayers has provided big profits, thousands of dollars which have been diverted and used for other purposes. After a little study it is obvious that the financial set-up in the circular is not sound, and the attempt to create the impression that the scheme if approved would not increase taxation, is wrong, misleading and not according to facts.

Ratepayers consider the following:
1. Why the expense of a special election only three months from the annual election?
2. Why the expense (may be double) due to scarcity and high cost of labor and material at this time?

3. Why does the council assure us (see circular) that the present source of supply is sufficient for the "Greater Victoria area" and then endeavor to saddle us with an expensive, experimental, proposition of shallow wells whose source of supply underground streams is not fixed and might shift or disappear at any time?

4. Why the determination of our council in this matter when all municipalities in B.C. have gone on record not to undertake any large works or unnecessary expense for the duration of the war?

Dependable authorities have described the proposition (a half-baked scheme). Therefore Saanich ratepayers exercise your vote and vote NO to this money by-law which by some is termed only a plebiscite.

IS GOD ON OUR SIDE?

The use of the letter V for victory is fast becoming a joke. What is the ground for our expectation of victory? Do we expect God to stand on our side merely because it is our side? Recently an English clergyman said: "I am not alone in believing that we ought to be called to a day of national repentance. I have before me a form of prayer used on a recent Sunday in which there is not a single prayer that is a clear penitential confession of national wrongdoing and appeal for pardon. The nation is not upon its knees in humble penitence seeking forgiveness. There is no real recognition of the insistent call of the Scriptures that the people should turn away from wrongdoing and turn to God. There may be no John the Baptist preaching repentance, but that eternal truth cannot be evaded. When that essential condition is present God will move for the nation as well as for the individual."

He is right, for without this, V stands for vaunt, not for victory. We cannot by a mere click of the fingers switch God over to our side.

ALUMINUM DRIVE
Throughout Canada an active drive for aluminum is under way. This necessary and worthwhile work has been started here by the Red Cross Superfluities committee, together with the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

An enclosure has been erected on Pandora Avenue at Blanshard Street. Everyone is urged to collect all old aluminum pots, etc., to throw in this enclosure. Particularly at this time should the drive meet with success since people are returning from camps where there are usually old pots, etc., ready to be thrown away. Also the children have time to see what they can collect. This aluminum actually does two jobs. In the first place it saves the government badly needed time and money by being returned to the smelters. Secondly the money paid for it is used to help the bombed victims in England.

Here is a war effort that everyone, particularly the young people can take part in, which costs nothing except the time. Let us all help to put this drive over in a proper spirit.

I HOMO SAPIENS $1
A military man, engaged locally in the unreal estate business, once told me that there was much evidence showing that man was a chemical product, but I did not know that this wicked idea had reached the M.C.s. Mr. McDermott estimated that $2 of our good Canadian money, which buys less each day, including vegetables, would be quite enough to pay for one homo sapiens. Although he did not list it, I suppose this sum will have to cover the practically unlimited supply of hot air.

C. WALKDEN.
SCIENCE'S PLACE
A. B. Sanders and the scientific school to which he acknowledges allegiance proclaims matter as the sole and only reality. It is this sort of outlook which has ended up with Hitler and the machine man, as might have been expected, and indeed was, by some eminent men of foresight.

The sooner science is relegated to its proper sphere, i.e., that of a useful and respected servant, and the sooner it ceases to form our cultural values, the sooner the human race will get on with its job of the higher evolution which awaits it.

Vivian Shoemaker Goes to Winnipeg

Resignation of Vivian Shoemaker as boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A. was accepted at the meeting today of the board of directors of the association. Mr. Shoemaker has accepted an invitation to become program secretary of the Winnipeg Y.M.C.A.

Cameron Gorrie, at present boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Windsor, Ont., will succeed Mr. Shoemaker. He will arrive from the east on October 15.

Mr. Shoemaker, who is a veteran of the first World War, has been boys' work secretary at the local "Y" for 14 years and has been instrumental in making that department a big factor in the success of the local institution. Camp life has developed extensively and he pioneered camps at Beaver Lake and Sooke and five years ago saw his dreams for a permanent site come true with the purchase by the "Y" of Glinz Lake and the construction of a number of buildings, tent floors and trails.

Reconsecration at Churches

Edifices Filled by Large Congregations

Victoria churches were filled Sunday by devout congregations joining in the nation-wide call for reconsecration and prayer.

All denominations participated in the services held in all sections of the city and suburbs.

Feature of the services was a parade in which officers and men of District Depot M.D. 11, together with detachments from other military establishments and officers and airmen of the Western Air Command, R.C.A.F., marched in the morning to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, where the services were conducted by Capt. Rev. J. Lewis McLean.

The lesson was read by Capt. Oldham, special prayers of reconsecration were offered, and "O Canada" and "Lead On O King Eternal" sung.

"Let us remind ourselves of its meaning (reconsecration) what it must stand for in your life and in mine today as our nation and empire has entered upon the third year of war with Nazi Germany," said Rev. Mr. McLean in his sermon. "You and I are called upon once again to declare that the cause of our nation and Empire is in our estimation worthy of our highest regard, and to declare as our purpose that we will give ourselves wholly and earnestly to the cause, the cause of righteousness."

Special services were held at the army and navy establishments and there was a sprinkling of the men of the three services at all churches.

At Christ Church Cathedral, Dean Spencer H. Elliott preached on "Taking Up the Cross" at evening. Bishop Sexton preached at the morning reconsecration service, with the dean offering special prayers.

At Metropolitan Church large congregations gathered to renew allegiance to the just cause of the struggle for the faith symbolizing all that free peoples hold dear.

AT OTHER POINTS

OTTAWA (CP)—Parliament Hill with its acres of smooth lawn and wide stretches of pavement was transformed into a giant cathedral Sunday as Canadians there fervently recited the reconsecration pledge, dedicated themselves anew to the ideals for which free peoples fight, and

Wants Canada To Be Fashion Centre

"We are trying to awaken a patriotic fashion sense in Canadian women to buy clothes designed and manufactured in their own country," says Charles Hayden, internationally-known dress designer, now in Victoria to open a salon of Canadian fashions. "This will help individuals conserve Canadian currency and, by developing an original and pleasing Canadian product, we will also prevent manufacturers from buying their models in the United States. We want Canada to find a place for herself in the sun in the fashion world."

Mr. Hayden, in collaboration with Madame Martha, Ontario born designer who has gained prominence in Europe and Hollywood, has organized the Fashion Creators of Canada to foster Canadian-made designs and develop creative genius in this country. He arrived in Victoria yesterday to open his organization's salon of original models to be shown at the Hudson's Bay Company today, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. Hayden feels that this is the opportune time to develop a distinctive Canadian market for clothes, as after the war the countries of Europe will flood the world with their products to regain the balance of trade. Arriving at the Empress Hotel at the tea hour yesterday Mr. Hayden remarked that the dress of the women he saw there was as smart as any he had seen in any gathering in Europe.

Fashions are adapted from the characteristics of the country, says Mr. Hayden, a handsome young man in his early thirties, with a ready smile and an engaging earnestness concerning his career. Just as England is known for her tweeds and day clothes, "to tramp around on the moors" and France is known for her glamorous evening gowns "to sit in a chaise-longue and take it easy," so Canadian women will be known for their practical, business-like clothes, "that look as though there's work to be done, yet are pleasing to the eye."

Fashion Creators are alive to war conditions, eliminate all unnecessary luxuries without altering the style of their models, says Mr. Hayden. "For example, we're not using zippers, because the government needs the machinery and labor for war industries. The United States will soon follow suit."

Mr. Hayden deprecates the popularity of solid black frocks. "They are depressing, especially in wartime. A soldier likes some life and color when he comes home on leave. Black is complementary to oversize figures, but it should be worn with a splash of color."

Queen Mary's hats, who conservative style has been a subject of comment for a quarter of a century, are designed that way for a purpose, explains Mr. Hayden. The Queen Mother feels that it is her duty to make herself visible to her subjects, and the famous toque was designed to permit as much of her face as possible to be shown. "It sits on top of her head, but that is because of her severe up-swept hair coiffure," Queen Elizabeth, on her tour of Canada, wore up-swept hats for the same reason.

While in Victoria he is staying at the Empress Hotel. On his return to eastern Canada, he will open similar salons of the Fashion Creators at 12 cities across Canada, including Calgary, Lethbridge, Regina and Winnipeg.

Truck Driver Fined

Charles Dodgson, city workman who pleaded not guilty to a charge of dangerous driving in the City Police Court last Thursday as a result of the May 9 accident at the Garbally and Gorge Road intersection which injured Edward Schacht, cyclist, changed his plea to guilty this morning and received sentence of $30 or six days.

The case had been adjourned until this morning at the request of Gordon A. Cameron, defence counsel, to permit him to investigate the statement by the accused that he had previously informed the city mechanical superintendent the brakes on the truck he was driving were faulty.

Appointed as medical health officers and school health inspectors for their respective districts by provincial order today were: Dr. Valentine St. John of Alert Bay, Dr. C. M. Robertson of Nelson, Dr. R. A. Pearce of Garden Bay, Dr. W. S. Kergin of Ocean Falls and Dr. H. E. Kydd of Invermere.

Slim Summerville Looks City Over

"Slim" Summerville, screen comedian who established himself in the flickers by his interpretation of the role of Tgadean in "All Quiet on the Western Front," exploded a few theories regarding himself today.

The tall, pockish-faced comedian landed here Sunday morning with his wife from Port Angeles after motoring up the coast from Laguna Beach, Calif.

The word got around at the Empress Hotel that he was avoiding publicity, but when called on the house phone he called cheerily: "Come on up—we're busy packing but shall be glad to say hello."

On arrival here they registered as "Mr. and Mrs. George Somerville," which didn't seem right to a movie fan.

"That's my real name," said the comedian. "The movie moguls thought 'Slim Summerville' was better for screen purposes and it has stuck."

COMING BACK SOON

Slim said he was sorry he could not stay in Victoria longer.

"But I am coming back," he hastened to say. "I shall be back next summer and stay awhile."

There are people who have the impression that Slim Summerville is a Canadian, due to his early associations with Ontario.

He is not, although he likes to think of himself as one when he reflects on his boyhood days.

He was born in Albuquerque, New Mexico, but at the age of five went to Chatham, Ont., to reside with his grandparents. He was schooled in Ontario, but when he was 15 he "ran away" to win fame on the screen. In the meantime he did "all sorts of jobs" and at one time worked for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

He first became identified with the movies in 1913, being one of the notoriously funny "Keystone Cops."

"All Quiet on the Western Front," he says, changed his whole career.

"You remember Tgadean who was woman-crazy and who could see no end to the war? That's the picture that made me."

Some of Slim's more recent successes are "Puddin' Head," with Judy Canova, Republic feature, and Warner Bros.' "Highway West," with Brenda Marshall. His part in "Western Union," as cook, was good for some big laughs.

STREAMLINED FILMS

Slim's most recent pictures are "Niagara Falls" and "Miss Polly," produced by Hal Roach, playing opposite to Zasu Pitts. It was Zasu Pitts, a regular visitor here, who directed the comedian to Victoria. These two features, says Slim, are Hal Roach's latest "streamlined" productions. They are 4½ to 5-feet reels of super fun, taking about 50 minutes to run off. The comedian's wife has no connection with the motion picture business.

She is young and pretty, a nurse by profession who nursed Slim through a dangerous illness and is continuing to nurse him.

Fifteen motorists were fined $2.50 each over the week-end for parking infractions. A rider of a bicycle was fined a similar amount for riding on a sidewalk.

Tremors Shake
California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mother Nature did nip-ups over much of south-central California Sunday, making herself felt along two of the state's major earthquake faults.

The heaviest shock apparently centred somewhere in the towering Sierra Nevada mountains, where geologists have found deep fissures from upheavals long past.

It was felt in the Bishop area,
on the east side of the mountains,
and—apparently with lessened force—in the San Joaquin Valley around Fresno, on the west side.

Near Bishop, where a tremor on the Owens Valley fault in 1872 killed 65 persons despite sparse settlements, boulders crashed down from the hills. J. B. Leonard of Rock Creek Inn, 25 miles to the north, said rocks blocked the Bishop-Mammoth road and a cabin was shaken down at Amarogin fishing camp. From Leevine, farther north, came reports of huge dust clouds high in the mountains.

Vacationists in Yosemite National Park were rocked, and food was tumbled from store shelves
by one of six tremors.

Police at Fresno reported a few cracked plaster ceilings but no serious damage.

In Santa Barbara early in the evening, the San Andreas fault—blamed for the San Francisco quake of 1906 and the Santa Barbara quake of 1926—acted up again. Two minor disturbances were felt, apparently adjustments after a more severe tremor which put cracks in a few buildings June 30.

SIWA OASIS, in the Western Desert, Egypt (AP)—Ancient Egyptian tombs from which mummies have been removed provide the safest air-raid shelters in the world for the people of this sand-grit oasis.

When the war first touched the far fringe of the western desert, the Siwa inhabitants flocked from their crumbling
mud hut city to nearby Jewel Muta (mountain of death), and made new homes inside death
chambers hewn from solid rock thousands of years ago.

Two thousands persons—Egyptians, Bedouin, Berbers, Senussi, Arabs—live there in rock caves
so low it is impossible for a man to stand upright.

Niches which once contained mummies of their ancestors now house crude pottery, cooking pots, smoky oil lamps of Biblical design and modern kettles from Birmingham

Arrive From Near East Battlefronts

With 393 passengers from the battlefronts of the Near East aboard, a British transport, formerly well known on this coast, arrived at New York recently. She was the first ship to reach this continent from Suez since the war spread to that part of the globe.

Carrying soldier and sailor survivors of the Greek and Crete campaigns, R.A.F. airmen from the Levant and Africa, merchant seamen who have delivered vessels to the Near East or who tried to, wives of soldiers and British civilians from Greece, Yugoslavia, Crete, Egypt, Syria and Africa, the vessel was a veritable epitome of the entire range of war.

The 267 soldiers and sailors looked as if they had emerged from a campaign. Many of the troops wore no shirts or undershirts, but strode the decks in brown shorts, half socks and sandals. The sailors wore white shorts or white slacks. Their uniforms were worn and stained, and in most cases what they wore represented what they owned.

There were Norwegians who escaped from their country after the invasion last year, including one young soldier who recovered from machine gun wounds in the abdomen and finally worked his way through Finland, Russia, Turkey and Egypt on his way to England to fight.

There were Free French soldiers going to England to resume the struggle under De Gaulle leaders.

HAD LONG FERRY RIDE

There were a few Belgians, and even three Americans, one a member of the crew, one a passenger from Capetown and one a seaman who came home after serving in "the longest ferry ride in history" from Newcastle to Turkey around the Cape of Good Hope.

The transport's grey paint was scarred and the brown lifeboats faded. A plate on the starboard bulged from a minor accident, and seaweed and barnacles, clung along her bottom and sides, were 20 in the crew, and there were 19 other ferryboats specially built by England for Turkey. Mr. Hughes' boat was the more than two months, with calls at Durban, Cape Town and Trinidad, in the West Indies.

THEY SURVIVED—These bearded young Britishers are survivors of the Battle of Crete, two of 397 veterans of the fierce fighting in the Mediterranean area who recently arrived in New York on a British transport. Left to right, they are Alex Osborne, Australian, and Matland Gordon of Scotland, whose arms are heavily swathed in bandages.

From Suez to Durban, it was learned, 1,000 Italian prisoners taken in battles in Libya and Ethiopia were carried under guard in the tourist quarters below.

One of the Americans on the ship was Victor Hughes, who said he had a decorating and painting business near his home, near New York City, and also a car-parking lot. He was the man who joined up for the long ferry voyage.

Living in a neighborhood predominantly Irish and German, he said he was finally driven to sign up with the British by the teasing of his neighbors.

TALKED INTO IT "I always stood up for the British, and they would ask me why I didn't go over and help them if I felt so strongly about it," he said. "So I did. I read an ad asking for mechanically trained men and yachtsmen."

He and 21 others, including George Gowing, a Canadian from Kildown, N.S., who also returned, sailed from a Canadian port on the former J. P. Morgan yacht Corsair.

On December 29, 1940, Hughes left Newcastle in a 120-foot ferryboat, a tiny vessel with a low deck and 28-foot beam. There

The sailors told of diving at terrific speed through the British anti-aircraft fire, dropping their bombs and plunging right on into the sea. He said the first three missed but the second two hit his ship. The crew fought fires in the engine room for five hours, but had to abandon the ship in the end.

Another traveler was a member of the carefully trained, highly skilled raiding parties which crossed the Channel under cover of darkness, struck swiftly at unprotected "blind spots" and returned with captives and with vital information.

Movements of land, air and water contingents have to be synchronized almost to split seconds, he explained, in order to reach "blind spots" ashore during moments they are unpatrolled. He didn't explain how England knows when those moments are.

He did display, however, one of the raiding parties' "secret weapons"—a sort of knife with its handle made in the form of brass knuckles and a vicious-looking instrument of "silent warfare," he said.

The Norwegian contingent consisted of 22 officers and 48 men. They skied across the border into Sweden when the Nazis came, and made their way thence across the Finland, Russia and Turkey into Palestine. One of them, only 22, was hit six times by German bullets during his flight.

MASS LAUNCHING WASHINGTON (AP)—Thirteen cargo vessels will slide from their ways into Atlantic, Pacific and gulf waters on September 27 in the largest mass launching of merchant ships since the first Great War. The Maritime Commission has asked President Roosevelt to make it a "fitting and colorful ceremony" by making a nation-wide address.

J.F. Pringle C.N.R. Transport Chief

MONTREAL—J. F. Pringle has been appointed chief of transportation for the Canadian National Railways with headquarters at Montreal, according to an announcement made today by N. B. Walton, vice-president, operation construction and maintenance. Mr. Pringle, prior to this appointment, was general superintendent, South Ontario district, central region, with office at Toronto.

In his new appointment, Mr. Pringle will have supervision of all transportation matters generally throughout the entire system.

Mr. Pringle, a native of Cornwall, Ontario, began his service with the Canadian National Railways in November, 1919, as an assistant engineer in the engineering department at Montreal, and continued in that position until 1923 when he was made transportation engineer to the chief of transportation. In 1925 Mr. Pringle was made assistant to the chief of transportation and later in the same year he was transferred to Toronto as assistant general superintendent of transportation, becoming general superintendent of transportation in August, 1932. In 1936 he was appointed general superintendent, southern Ontario district, which position he maintained until his present appointment.

Mr. Pringle was one of the Canadian National officers loaned to the National Railways of Mexico during the winters of 1929-30 and 1930-31 to assist in modernizing and reorganizing traffic methods on the Mexican lines.

Navy Defeated Army Skippers

In yesterday's regatta at Cadboro Bay the navy avenged the defeat they experienced earlier in the season by outslugging the army, being awarded 12 points to 10 credited to their opponents.

It was the final "at home" day of the season staged by the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, and was declared to be "the outstanding success of the year."

The fine weather, with brilliant sunshine, brought out the largest crowd of the season, some 200 guests being entertained at the clubhouse during the afternoon.

Vice-Commodore F. N. D. Robertson, acting for Commodore Eric Pepler, received the guests.

It was an ideal day for sailing, a fresh southwest wind blowing over the course.

Racing started at 2 in the afternoon, three stars, four dirighies and five snipes competing. The boats were sailed by officers in training at H.M.C.S. Royal Roads and cadet officers stationed at the Gordon Head military camp.

W. Humphrey Golby was officer of the day; Ben B. Temple, judge, and Jack O. Healy, starter and timekeeper.

Some good stickhandling was seen by both the navy and army officers, indicated by the fact that only two points separated them at the conclusion of the race.

Boats, skippers and finishing times were as follows:

Stars—Mintaka, Lt. Roberts (army), 3:37.22; Aquila, Lt. Ford (army), 3:41.10; Bokin, Sub-Lt. Morgan (navy), 3:42.55.

Dirighies—Falcon, Sub-Lt. Grogan (navy), 3:19.40; Onoway, Lt. Morgan (army), 3:20.45; Tottie, Lt. McIntosh (army), 3:22.40; Kismet, Sub-Lt. Crothers, failed to finish.

Snipes—Redskin, Sub-Lt. Hynes (navy), 3:21.15; Kakawis, Sub-Lt. Nuttall (navy), 3:37.00; Ishkoodah, Lt. Turslow (army), 3:37.35; Klatawa, Lt. White (army), 3:39.25; Ciente, Lt. Cades (army), 3:42.35.

Lived to Torpedo 10 Enemy Vessels

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty said today the submarine Triumph had 18 feet of its hull blown away and its plating cracked by a mine explosion, but lived on to torpedo 10 enemy ships, among them five warships.

MISSING OVERSEAS HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—Sgt. Pilot Thomas Hunter Wood is missing after air operations, his parents here have been notified.

Sgt. Pilot Wood, who received his wings in western Canada, was a member of the Tiger Cubs football team in the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series.

and gulf waters on September 27 in the largest mass launching of merchant ships since the first Great War. The Maritime Commission has asked President Roosevelt to make it a "fitting and colorful ceremony" by making a nation-wide address.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Specialized buying continued today on a somewhat shaky roost in today's stock market.

Stocks posting new tops for 1941 included Western Union, Postal Telegraph Pfd., California Packing, Wilson and Co. and Deere.

Lifted now and then were International Harvester, Oliver Farm, Armour, Cudahy, Pepsi-Cola, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, American Telephone, Chrysler, General Motors, American Smelting, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin and Montgomery Ward.

Canadian stocks were strong with Walkers up 1/2 and Distillers Seagram up 1/4. Canadian Pacific lost 1/4 while Dome and Lake Shore Mines were unchanged. In the bond market Canada 4s declined 1/4.

Metals Holds Ground
TORONTO (CP)—The volume of trading dropped sharply on the Toronto Exchange today, but prices maintained a firm front in all groups but golds. Base metals and industrials held the main interest and both groups closed with gains.

Consolidated Mining and Smelting was the base metal leader. It advanced 1 1/2 to 4 1/4 in quite active trading. The "street" heard a report that a syndicate of Toronto and Montreal brokers had been formed to market a block of Smelters stock that had been taken over from English holders. Hudson Bay added 1/4 and Noranda 1/4. Steep Rock went to a new high for the year at 1.96, up 7.

East Maltair held the spotlight in golds, firming 11 to 2.58 in active trading. Macassa, Teck Hughes, Kirkland Lake and Jason were moderately strong.

Russia's Crimea Is About Half Size Of Ireland

One part of Russia is known as "the Crimea." It is land which juts into the northern side of the Black Sea.

People often speak of the Crimea as a peninsula, and that is about what it is. Yet a canal was cut through the northern side of it some years ago, and it became an island of a sort. It has been described as "a man-made island." The canal is only 75 feet wide and there are bridges across it.

The Crimea contains a bit more than 15,000 square miles. It is about half as large as Ireland.

The Crimea gave its name to a war which was fought 87 years ago. In the Crimean war, Great Britain and France helped Turkey beat back the Russians.

Much of the fighting in that war—but not all of it—took place in the Crimea. One Crimean valley saw the "Charge of the Light Brigade." In his famous poem, Tennyson told of a charge by 600 British cavalry soldiers.

As the poem says, "someone had blundered," and the cavalry had been ordered to charge through a valley guarded by many cannon. A few of the men came back alive from the charge, but the rest were shot down, dead or wounded. Today there are graves on a hill nearby, graves of the Light Brigade.

Several years ago a Russian in the Crimea told a traveler that up to the year 1920 he had been paid to take care of the graves by the British ambassador to Russia. "Since then," he said, "I have not been paid, but I have taken care of them just the same."

Florence Nightingale, the famous British nurse, performed her best-known work during the Crimean war. She went personally to the Crimea, and did ever so much to bring about better wartime nursing.

Most of the Crimea is made up of "steppes." In other words it contains prairies or plains. A person may travel scores of miles across the steppes of the Crimea without seeing a tree. In early summer, however, there is a good supply of grass for cattle and other livestock.

The coast of the Crimea is noted for its fine climate. Bordering the Black Sea, it is favored with winds which are gentle and warm. A great deal of swimming takes place on the beaches.

Leaders Discuss Neutrality Revision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker Sam Rayburn told his press conference revision of the United States Neutrality Act was discussed by legislative leaders at a conference with President Roosevelt at the White House today but no conclusions had been reached.

At the same time, Rayburn said the President would send a message to Congress Thursday on the subject of a new lend-lease appropriation which informed sources said would amount to about $6,000,000,000.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My husband and I have been married a little more than a year and we have been planning to take a couple of weeks' automobile trip as a sort of second honeymoon. Recently my husband mentioned this to his mother and she announced that she was going along with us. That just ruins the whole affair for me. I want to be alone with my husband. He is very fond of his mother, says she has done so much for him, and every Sunday afternoon he takes her for a long ride, even if I don't want him to do so, and he says that I am very selfish in not being willing for his mother to go with us on this trip. But I think he can't love me very much if he is willing to have his mother go with us. I work every day and bring a nice cheque home and have saved as much as he has toward our holiday, and now it breaks my heart to have it all spoiled. What shall I do?

UNHAPPY BRIDE.

Answer: Well, poor little foolish bride, I understand and sympathize with you in having the edge taken off of the trip you have worked and planned so long to take by having to take your mother-in-law with you. It was to have been a romantic and sentimental adventure, packed full of thrills, but with her along it will be just a plain trip, with nothing more exciting in it than hot dogs and coca-cola. Almost anybody is excess baggage when they park themselves on the back seat when a husband and wife start off for a good time together.

DOROTHY DIX.

POLITICS

VERNON TORY

Gordon Lindsay, Vernon barister, has been chosen to stand as Conservative candidate in North Okanagan riding in the provincial election October 21. Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, represented the seat in the last Legislature and is seeking re-election.

REVELSTOKE

The main issue of the provincial election is the whole-hearted prosecution of all efforts tending to bring about a victory for the British Empire, Attorney-General G. S. Wismer declared in an address in Revelstoke.

He spoke at a Liberal nominating convention at which HARRY JOHNSTON, Liberal representative of Revelstoke in the last Legislature, was again named to contest the seat.

The Attorney-General said the provincial government was co-operating in every way with the Dominion in the war effort and asserted it would be a mistake to place in power a party which lacked experience in government.

He said the C.C.F. policy was one of socialization of industry and contended such a policy was impossible under the present system. Mr. Wismer declared that only two Conservative candidates—R. L. Maitland, K.C., and R. W. Bruhn—had experience in a provincial cabinet.

Now in Ontario

Congratulations and good wishes together with many flowers and other gifts are being showered today upon Mrs. Margaret Leighton McMicking, pioneer resident, who today is celebrating her 93rd birthday at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. McMicking, 61 Howe Street.

FOR AULD LANG SYNE

To you, dear friend, our thoughts are turning,
Ever faithful hearts a-yearning,
As on this natal day of yours,
Friend after friend her tribute pours,
In token of those olden days
Embalmed in "sweet old-fashioned ways."

But none the less our altar glows
With love that all the deeper flows
When Memory wakes those hallowed chords
Which, at long last she leans towards;
So, on this day of days benign,
We wish you well, for auld lang syne!

Table Tennis Opens Tonight

Victoria Table Tennis Association will usher in the 1941-42 season at the Crystal Garden north ballroom tonight. Eight tables will be available afternoons and evenings every day.

The association is organizing a special junior division for players 17 years and under. Five teams have already signified their intention to play. Each club will be in charge of a senior player. There will be three other divisions for team play, first, second and social.

An individual handicap tournament open to members of all divisions will be held each Wednesday night, commencing this week. There will be prizes for the winner and runnerup.

Owing to the increasing membership and popularity it has been decided to extend the playing season from six to seven months, from Sept. 15 to April 15, 1942, and members wishing to be placed on teams, must file their entries for the first division not later than September 19. Juniors, second and social division teams have until September 26. League play will commence the week following the closing of entries.

Entries may be filed with Tom Chantrell at the Melrose Paint Co. Additional information may be secured from Kay Elston, G 2391; Ruth Payne, E 6257 or Laurie Greenwood, E 3949.

Noted Nazi Soldier Killed in Russia

BERLIN (AP)—The death in action of one of Germany's foremost generals, Col.-Gen. Eugen Ritter von Schobert, is announced by Hitler's headquarters. He fell two days ago on the Russian front.

Military authorities gave no details of Von Schobert's death.

Von Schobert, 58, was one of the Kaiser's distinguished commanders who carried over into the Hitler regime.

The speed with which he drove his arm corps of 1940 into French fortifications between the Maas River and Chiers, the taking of an armored fort west of Margut and his drive through the northern front of Verdun won him the Knight's Cross of the Iron Cross and promotion from lieutenant-general to the rank of colonel-general.

"Don't you wish we could shorten the war?"

He: "Well, in a way we can, you know."

She: "But, George, we're not trained to do anything..."

He: "Training doesn't matter for what I'm thinking about. I was wondering whether we couldn't put more of our income into War Savings Certificates."

She: "And why not? We might have to go without one or two pet luxuries—but wouldn't it be worth it to bring back peace again?"

He: "And won't we be glad of the money—and the interest it will have earned—in a world without war restrictions!"

The help of every Canadian is needed for Victory. In these days of war the thoughtless selfish spender is a traitor to our war effort. A reduction in personal spending is now a vital necessity to relieve the pressure for goods, to enable more and more labour and materials to be diverted to winning the war. The all-out effort, which Canada must make, demands this self-denial of each of us.
